DEMPSEY TO BATTLE OR NOT MAY BE RESULT

Montana Men Set Jaws and Assert Fight Will Take Place Or?

BULLETIN
SHELBY, Mont., June 28.—From a semi-official source, a report was started today that Mayor Jim Johnson had raised the necessary $100,000 to cover Jack Dempsey's guarantee for the Gibbons fight, July 4, but denial was speedily made by George H. Stanton, the Great Falls banker. The latter, however, held out hope that the money would be advanced before nightfall, and the world's heavyweight championship bout thus saved for Shelby.

GREAT FALLS, Mont., June 28.—Jack Dempsey and Tommy Gibbons will dispose of their fistic differences upon the soil of Montana and nowhere else. And Dempsey will display his wares even if the cash in hand does not exceed the already paid sum of $210,000.

Jack Kearns, pilot of the champion's knuckle bouncing dukes, has not said that Dempsey will fight for a paltry $210,000. Rather he still maintains that Dempsey will not fight unless he gets $310,000.

But the men of Montana, with jaws set and with a menacing glint in their eyes, have stepped forth today and said:

"Dempsey will fight Gibbons in Shelby, or—"

In all likelihood the battle will be scheduled on July 4, as originally planned, although there is a remote possibility that the affair may be deferred until July 14 to give the promoters more time to gather in shekels.

Payment Due Monday
The final $100,000 payment is due the Dempsey-Kearns combination on Monday next. There isn't now the slightest chance that the obligation can be met. Kearns for a week has been insisting that if the money wasn't forthcoming he would take the champion, the $210,000 and bid Montana a gay adieu.

"He won't do anything of the sort," Montana men say today.

"Kearns realizes that every effort has been made to raise the $100,000 for Dempsey's third pay."

TWO SCORE FLEE APARTMENT FIRE

Many Escape Clad Only In Sleeping Garments Loss Over $150,000

LOS ANGELES, June 28.—Two score residents of the exclusive St. Andrews apartments on West Sixth street, many clad only in sleeping garments, barely escaped with their lives early today when forced to flee from fire which swept the building. Damage was estimated at $150,000.

Few valuables or personal effects were saved. Seven fire companies battled the conflagration for over two hours before bringing the flames under control.

Some later estimates placed damage at $225,000. Personal property loss was given at $100,000.

Many slumbering occupants of the burning building were awakened by firemen and police officers. Great headway was gained by the flames before they were discovered.

The fire was started by a gas heater, which evidently ignited the roof of the building, firemen said.

Twelve expensive automobiles were pushed from a garage in the rear, before the smaller structure was consumed.

The entire upper portion of the apartment building was burned away and the first floor was flooded.

Labor Party Opposes Increased Air Force

LONDON, June 28.—The British labor party in conference today adopted a resolution opposing an increase of British air forces. The resolution demands an international conference for air disarmament.

SEIZURE OF 'WET' SHIPS IS DENIED

Present Government Policy Will Not Be Changed, Official Declares

WASHINGTON, June 28.—Aroused by the publication of unauthorized statements that the government contemplated the seizure of foreign ships carrying liquor into American ports, Acting Secretary of the Treasury S. P. Gilbert today called upon Prohibition Commissioner Roy A. Haynes to explain why these false reports had been circulated and announced flatly that no change was planned in the present policy of the treasury department in enforcing the dry ship regulations.

This statement was made to International News Service by S. P. Gilbert, Jr., acting secretary of the treasury, in denial of widespread reports that drastic action was planned against foreign ships and their commanders.

Issues Statement
"While seizures of foreign ships would be authorized under the law, and it has been suggested by prohibition officials, the treasury is not giving serious consideration to such a step at this time and does not believe such drastic action will be necessary to control the situation."

Secretary of State Hughes was besieged with inquiries from diplomats of countries whose ships would be affected by such action. His responses to such questions were that the government has made no decision beyond the pending order to seize liquors which are brought in above a quantity required for medicinal use.

AVIATOR HIT BY SHOWER OF 'GAS'

Drenched While Transfer of Fuel Is Taking Place High Up In Air

BULLETIN
SAN DIEGO, Cal., June 28.—At 10:06 o'clock this morning Captain Smith and Lieutenant Richter rounded their 50 kilometer course for the fiftieth time, maintaining their 91 miles per hour speed and flying easily.

SAN DIEGO, Cal., June 28.—On their second attempt to fly four days and nights without stopping, Captain Lowell H. Smith and Lieutenant John B. Richter got off at 4:46:43 this morning. At 8:40 o'clock they had completed eleven laps of the 50 kilometer course, at about 81 miles an hour. This slightly in excess of the speed maintained in yesterday's attempt when they were forced down after five hours by a burned generator.

The first contact with the refueling plane driven by Lieutenants Virgil Hines and Frank Seifert was scheduled to take place shortly before noon. The transfer of gasoline through a hose in mid-air is considered an extremely dangerous operation and requires the highest skill in flying craftsmanship, officers said. The feat has been accomplished only three times in the world's history, being successfully undertaken in tests here during the last few days preliminary to the record flight now being attempted.

Plut With Death
At 9:51 a. m. Lieutenants Hines and Seifert made a re-fueling contact and transferred twenty-five gallons of gas to Captain Smith and Lieutenant Richter. When the hose was being attached the cock became open and drenched Lieutenant Richter with gas. Fortunately none of the splashing gas touched the motor or exhaust pipe and no damage resulted.

Captain Smith subsequently dropped a note saying that the refueling plane was flying too slow and requesting additional gasoline supply at noon.

Five Boys Yet Remain In U.S. Marble Contest

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., June 28.—Five small boys, four of them out of the west, survived today in the marble shooting contest for the championship of the United States.

Eugene Clewell, 13, of Allentown, Pa., carried upon his small knuckles the hopes of the east. Opposed to him were Sammy Schneider, 11, of St. Louis; Harlin McCoy, 14, Columbus, Ohio; Morris Goldfarb, 14, Fort Worth, Texas, and Lloyd Williamson, 11, of Tacoma.

FIRECRACKER PUTS BOY IN HOSPITAL

Lad Throws Lighted One In Gas-Filled 'Manhole' and Explosion Results

Lee Humiston, aged 9, was taken to the Los Angeles Children's hospital this morning, suffering from serious burns on his hands, legs and face, as the result of an explosion that occurred when he accidentally tossed a firecracker into a "manhole" near his home at 3418 Casitas avenue, where he lives with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. L. J. Humiston.

The child was playing with other children of the neighborhood, neighbors state, when at about 10 o'clock in the morning there sounded a loud explosion, followed by screams and cries.

Before anyone else knew what had happened a passing motorist, a witness to the accident, stopped his car, dashed to the burning child and beat out the flames that enveloped him.

This mercifully sent stranger then rushed the fainting boy to the scant half block to his home and gave him into the kindly care of (Continued on page 8)

HARDING SAYS STRIKE NOT JUSTIFIED

POCATELLO, Idaho, June 28.—President Harding today laid down the maxim here that railroad strikes which stop public service are NEVER justified. "Under no circumstances," said the president, talking directly to a group of overalled-railway men here today, "have you the right to stop transportation on account of personal grievances. When you enter a public service, you do so under a trust, and no circumstances can justify abandonment of that trust—at least not until there is a hearing of your case."

FAILS TO SAVE HUSBAND FROM DEATH

TULARE, Cal., June 28.—Despite the heroic efforts of his wife to save him when his body came in contact with a high voltage power wire on his ranch here, Dan Della, a farmer, succumbed to terrible burns and shock in a hospital. Mrs. Della, seeing her husband struck down when a hay derrick he was operating crossed the power line, rushed to his aid, and with nothing but a piece of cloth to insulate her hands, pulled the unconscious form of her husband away from the crackling wire. He was rushed to the hospital, where it was found that in the short interval his hands and one foot had been burned off, and he never regained consciousness. Mrs. Della, who was burned about the hands will recover.

WORLD COURT PLEASES GROW STRONGER

Harding Believes Advocacy of Proposal Continues To Win Support

BULLETIN
POCATELLO, Idaho, June 28.—President Harding came into the home state of Senator William E. Borah today with a stirring appeal for his world court proposal. Addressing an audience of several thousand people from the rear platform of his train here, the president, for the first time, came out strongly AGAINST the arbitration of international disputes, and FOR the settlement of such disputes by an international court such as he had proposed. It was the first time Mr. Harding had ever openly criticized The Hague tribunal.

Senator Borah stood on the platform with the president as he spoke.

EN ROUTE WITH PRESIDENT
HARDING TO POCATELLO, Idaho, June 28.—President Harding's advocacy of his world court proposal is growing stronger as he progresses through the west on his long speaking tour. Similarly his determination to force the issue when the senate convenes in December also is growing stronger.

When the president left Washington more than a week ago the word was passed around in Republican senatorial circles, which are strongly opposed to the court, that Mr. Harding would make one speech on the court and then devote the balance of his speech-making to domestic issues. But he has followed no such program. Up to today the president has made more than a score of speeches, formal and informal, to audiences ranging in size from 50 persons gathered around the rear end of his train, to 15,000 in a packed hall, and only in three of them has he failed to mention the world court.

Majority Favors, Belief
In all the others he has reiterated again and again the arguments in favor of America's joining the world tribunal, and he personally is convinced the appeals have not been without effect.

Rightly or wrongly the president believes a majority of the audiences he has addressed on this epochal tour are in favor of the United States joining "some" (Continued on page 8)

DOCTOR SLAIN BY POLICE OFFICER

Seeks to Escape Arrest on Narcotics Case Charge And Is Shot

LOS ANGELES, June 28.—Shot by a police officer while fleeing arrest for obtaining narcotics on a "fake" prescription, Dr. H. C. Lake, resident of a downtown hotel, died on his way to the receiving hospital.

Dr. Lake has been suspected by United States Marshal Al Sittel of being author of a large number of spurious prescriptions, with which the city recently was flooded.

Bulletins to druggists recently intercepted by federal authorities caused Lake to be recognized today when he called at a prescription counter and the drug clerk telephoned the police.

In the pockets of the dead man was a telegram from Chicago signed by "Beebe," believed to be his wife. It read:

"Arrived here O. K. Love to my boy. I hope he is well. Be careful, Harry, and don't spoil your career out there."

Another telegram was signed "Mother." Other papers indicated that the doctor came here from Banola, Ill.

MOTHER WINS COLLEGE DEGREE

Tells How She Studied While Raising Family

Mrs. Katherine B. Clay and three children.

Thinks Parents Profit If Parents Have Some Interests Outside Of Home; Husband Urged Her to Complete Educational Course

NEWARK, N. J., June 28.—Mrs. Katharine Bouton Clay, of Newark, has always abhorred "loose ends." Most people will say that her life was pretty well arranged, counting up her happy marriage, her three lovely children and her pleasant home. But Mrs. Clay used to reflect now and then upon the fact that she had never finished college, and the more she thought of it the firmer became her belief that a degree was a necessary addition to her other precious possessions. She was not willing, however, to obtain it at the expense of her family's welfare.

Now Mrs. Clay is the proud recipient of a degree of bachelor of arts from Barnard College. She declares most of the credit should go to her eleven-year-old daughter, Katharine, who for the last two years has maintained discipline over John, eight, and Richard, six, while mother was at school. It is tacitly understood between Mr. and Mrs. John Clay and Katharine that she is entitled to an L. M. for Little Mother, or possibly an added S. D., for Strict Disciplinarian.

Studied On Train
Katharine's management of her exuberant young brothers was so excellent that Mrs. Clay was enabled not only to graduate from Barnard the other day, but to receive honors in modern languages after getting high marks in classes right along.

During her train and subway rides every day from Newark to Barnard and return Mrs. Clay studied classic literature, French and Spanish. Once she caught the 8:30 train for a 10 o'clock class her worries were over. Katharine could be depended on to see that nothing disastrous happened to John and Richard till mother got home from college, which was usually between 1 and 2 p. m.

Seated on her shady porch, Mrs. Clay, a slim, dark-haired young woman, with bright hazel eyes, looking no more mature than a girl graduate, told us about her accomplishment and some of her views on education.

"My husband encouraged me in going back to college for a degree," she said.

"I feel that all the great thoughts of the past should be part of our possessions. It is not a question of material benefits to be derived from a degree, but I feel that a mother with interest in her home can give more to her children—they will be broader for it."

Tells Her Philosophy
"We should get all we can out of life. The more we develop the (Continued on page 8)

MARY MILES MINTER IS STRANGELY MISSING

Film Star Has Not Been Seen by Family or Her Friends Since June 17

LOS ANGELES, June 28.—Her whereabouts unknown to her family, the mysterious absence of Mary Miles Minter is puzzling her friends and causing anxiety to her family, according to a story published today in The Evening Herald. The blonde film star has not been seen by her family or friends, it was said, since June 17, when she gave up bachelor-girl apartments in a Hollywood hill-top house. Her mother, Mrs. Charlotte Shelby, and her sister, Miss Margaret Shelby, were unable to account for the star's absence.

Her physical condition seriously aggravated by her daughter's absence, Mrs. Shelby is to undergo an operation as soon as her health permits her removal to a hospital.

Miss Minter is reported to have made visits in past weeks to the treatment rooms of a physician, who specializes in reduction of superfluous flesh.

Denies Financial Suit
Rumored discord between Mrs. Shelby and the film actress were dismissed by the other daughter, who denied a report that Miss Minter may file suit against her mother demanding a financial accounting.

"Mother's every thought is for marrying," Miss Shelby said. "She is better able to handle Mary's property than Mary herself, because Mary's time was given exclusively to pictures and she knows nothing of business. She is hardly more than a child and is irresponsible in some ways."

A woman was blamed by Miss Shelby for stories circulated regarding Miss Minter, since the mysterious murder of William Desmond Taylor, picture director, more than a year ago.

Threats of Tar Party Leads to 8 Arrests

UNIONTOWN, Pa., June 28.—The little town of Crystal Works, near here, bubbled over with excitement today as a constable proceeded to arrest eight women, most of them married, who are charged by Mrs. Pearl Graham, 40, with having visited her home last night and threatening to tar and feather her if she did not leave town by tonight. The warrants were sworn out before Alderman J. J. McHail here today.

California Postmasters Learn About Glendale

"Glendale, the fastest growing city in America" became the topic of the California Postmasters' conference at San Francisco last evening, it being a special subject of the banquet served in the Palace hotel. "How Glendale gets things" was the question which both amused and interested the crowd of first, second, third and fourth-class postmasters, the Oakland postmaster presiding. He confessed he hadn't heard of Glendale, so it took Postmaster D. Ripley Jackson and E. F. Sanders, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, a few minutes to enlighten him.

Also, when proposals were made by Captain Jackson that a Pacific division of the postmaster general's office be established, that the promotion of civil service employees to appointee posts and not affect their former status, and that postmasters should be allowed more initiative in developing the service with subsequent inspection, the chairman informed Captain Jackson that he could possibly get a hearing with First Assistant John H. Bartlett.

"Why, I have entertained Mr. Bartlett and driven all over southern California with him during the last few days," replied the Glendale official and the convention had to laugh at the doughty chairman from Oakland, a suburb of San Francisco.

As a result, all of the recommendations made were given favorable consideration. In Mr. Bartlett's speech Glendale was mentioned three times as the exceptional city on the coast. However, a shade of gloom was cast over the horizon when it was found that Oakland and other northern cities are going to command all appropriations for federal buildings with their greater representation in congress.

Mr. Sanders delivered an oratorical masterpiece on the growth of Glendale, according to Assistant Postmaster George Hallett.

San Fernando road and Pacific avenue was the scene of a collision about 3 o'clock between a truck driven by R. L. Brumel of 317 North Belmont street and C. J. Tuttle, 617 Vine street.

"I slowed up my truck at the crossing," said Mr. Brumel. "The other car drove into the rear of the car and bent up the foot step on the rear end. Property damage not very much."

STREET NUMBERS PUT IN PUZZLE

Eagle Rock Is Learning
Some of 'Joys' of Being Annexed Territory

Since Eagle Rock was annexed to the City of Los Angeles, just to insure its supply of drinking water, for no other reason, Eagle Rock's troubles have been piling up, until today a lot of the folks over there are thinking seriously of adopting, as a slogan for Eagle Rock, the phrase, "Aw, What's the Use?"

One of the first things that happened to Eagle Rock after annexation was the invalidation of an issue of bonds for school purposes; then the Eagle Rock high school students who had been attending the Glendale High school were compelled to attend another institution in Los Angeles; the municipal bureaus were scrambled up almost out of recognition; and one of the latest edicts that has gone forth from Los Angeles is that all the houses in Eagle Rock must be renumbered to conform with the house numbers that start somewhere in Los Angeles and end somewhere up around the bridge over the Arroyo Seco.

As a result of this order, citizens of Eagle Rock are running round in circles and trying to determine just where they live, and how to get word to all of their various correspondents, business and personal, of the change in their addresses, getting tangled up badly trying to explain that, while the new address puts them on some entirely different street, they are still living at the same old place.

Few to Profit

The latest order, however, carries joy to the hearts of a limited number of persons who will reap a profit from the misfortune of Eagle Rock. These are the sign painters, who expect to get the job of changing all the numbers; and the printers, who look forward eagerly to supplying reams and reams of new stationery to the firms who are expected to scrap their present stores of letterheads, billboards, shipping tags, envelopes, and other printed matter, and to order new stocks on a generous scale.

It is inconceivable, of course, that the same thing could ever happen to Glendale as long as the majority of its citizens adhere to their present intention of running their own municipality in their own way and of keeping them free from any entangling alliances. But, if, under some hitherto unexpected chain of circumstances, Glendale should barter its freedom for the doubtful privilege of being made a part of Los Angeles, can you frame the picture of what the change of house numbers will do to the Glendale streets would mean?

Just as soon as the annexers have finished shooting the city machinery full of holes and throwing it on the scrap heap, knocking the local school system higher than a kite and replacing the Glendale police and firemen with others from Los Angeles, who had to be taken care of by some obliging politician, a notice would be dropped in the mail boxes at the front doors, giving you the new number on your residence, with orders to have it changed within five days or face the prospect of a fine of $10 to $30 or of ten to thirty days in jail, or both, at the option of the courts? Brand boulevard would be the end of the continuation of some downtown street in Los Angeles, Broadway would be made the tag-end of some dead-end road that starts somewhere around Venice or some other coast town, with numbers running away up into the thousands, and heaven only knows what would happen to the rest of Glendale's streets before these changes were all finally settled.

Ready to Harvest

And here, again, the sign painters, the printers and the boys who would peddle the nice new enamelled door numbers would be on hand to gather in the new business that would follow the order to change the house numbers. But the toll that they would collect would be the smallest part of it. The numbering of the streets would have to be done under official auspices, Los Angeles official auspices, and no deserving political worker can reasonably be expected to pass the inspiring hoof around the streets of a city without drawing a generous rate of remuneration from the city, which again passes the charge back to the taxpayer, and this expense, even under the most conservative estimates, would mount into thousands of dollars in the case of a city the size of Glendale.

Is it worth it?

Freed Barber Agrees
To Bob Judge's Hair

BOULDER, Colo., June 28.—His promise to bob her hair was enough for Judge Linda M. Lee, police magistrate and justice of the peace at Boulder, to release Arthur F. Usery, a barber, when he was arranged before her recently, charged with a minor violation of the city traffic ordinances.

"Guilty or not guilty," asked Judge Lee of Usery.

"Guilty, but it's my first offense," said Usery.

"All right, sir, as it's your first offense I'll release you," the woman police judge said.

"Thanks, judge. If you ever want your hair bobbed come to my barber shop and I'll do it for nothing."

Preacher Pleads for Old Faith in Bible

COLUMBUS, Ohio, June 28.—Fervid sympathy for William Jennings Bryan and other opponents of the theory of evolution was voiced in an address here by Rev. W. E. McClure, pastor of the First United Presbyterian church, sermonizing on "The Old Paths."

"The Old Path teaches that the Bible is the infallible word of God, the one safe rule of faith and practice; that sin is stern reality, and that eternal punishment awaits the unrepentant sinner, while mansions of bliss and glory await the redeemed saints of God," said Dr. McClure.

"On the other hand, the new way is altogether different," he continued. "The Bible is a good book, but no more inspired than Tennyson's poems or Milton's 'Paradise Lost'; the theory of evolution is the modern scientific substitute for the first chapter of Genesis; the miracles are all explained on an analytical basis; Satan is a joke and sin is just 'misunderstood good'; we get our hell here in this life, and to talk about mansions of glory in heaven is all foolishness."

"Oh, why do men want to set aside the Bible? Why should men want to doubt the miracles? What advantage is gained in denying the virgin birth? Why do men wish to doubt the resurrection? Pray tell me, what have men to substitute for the gospel of our Blessed Lord? We should hold to the old way if for no other reason than to bring comfort to the hearts of those who must stand in the presence of death."

Famed Murals Shown In Missouri Capital

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo., June 28.—Four mural paintings by Frank Brangwyn, noted English artist, depicting education, science, commerce and agriculture development in Missouri are being placed in the ceiling of the State Capitol here at the base of the dome.

The canvas is 35 feet in diameter and a huge scaffold was necessary in order to reach the dome's base. Several carloads of lumber were used in the structure, which filled the rotunda from the main floor to above the fifth.

Lima Folk Poor, Tax Returns Indicate

LIMA, O., June 28.—Few homes here contain more than $100 worth of furniture. Most of the automobiles in Lima are junky old things, worth $100 or less. Local women wear little jewelry, most of which is of paste, or is of no value. There are practically no savings accounts in Lima banks. At any rate, these are conclusions, based upon local tax returns.

Officials state that a large percentage of the citizens admit they have $100 worth of furniture, but the law exempts this amount from taxation. Judging from the tax returns Lima homes contain a kitchen table, a stove, a few chairs and a bed. These articles cost about $100 in the stores today.

If all girls here have complied with the law requiring that they list their engagement rings for taxation, there will be few marriages in Lima this summer and fall. One woman told a tax assessor her handsome diamond dinner ring was purchased at a 10-cent store. A twelve-cylinder automobile became a flivver when one man filled out his tax report.

Intellectual Ability Limits Development

COLUMBUS, O., June 28.—"Every human being born into the world has the potentiality to develop to a certain degree and no further," said Dr. H. H. Goddard, former head of the Ohio bureau of juvenile research, now a member of the Ohio State University faculty, addressing a local audience. "This is just as true of his intelligence as it is of his stature," continued Dr. Goddard. "Some people say such a statement is too discouraging to spread abroad, but that is absurd. We must recognize the facts and act accordingly. Individuals of lower intelligence are just as important to the group as we are. The man who digs a ditch is worth as much as any other citizen. Don't get the impression 30 per cent of the population are worth having and 70 per cent are not."

"Where the mentality is below seven years, it is a different matter, and it is right to make an effort to prevent such persons being born into the world. Where the mentality is developed to that of an 8-year-old, or over, however, we have good citizens. While it is true our penal institutions are filled with men and women whose mentality is between 8 and 12, the mistake is in our method of educating them with children of superior intelligence."

"Our problem lies in recognizing the different grades of intelligence and doing for each grade what can be done. A few years ago pupils in public schools who could not get their lessons were punished, but we are learning differently now. If children are sick mentally, it is as unwise and unkind to punish them as if they are sick physically. Parents are learning to accept the facts."

Mother Dies, Child Saved by Adrenalin

NORTH BEND, Ore., June 28.—The infant and motherless daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lew Royer, of McKinley, Ore., brought into the world through a Caesarian operation, was restored to life after apparently being dead, by adrenalin injections into the heart. Two hours of artificial respiration caused the baby to breathe naturally. Mrs. Royer, 49, suffered a stroke of apoplexy, due to high blood pressure, and the family consented to the operation to save the child's life. The operation was performed a few minutes after the mother's death.

To Make Phonograph Records of Sermons

LOS ANGELES, June 28.—Phonograph records of short sermons by Almee Temple McPherson, renowned evangelistic pastor of Angels Temple, the Church of the Four-Square Gospel, at Echo Park, will be sent to spread the Gospel to the four corners of the earth.

Mrs. McPherson has achieved what Billy Sunday found impossible—impressing the speaking voice on a phonograph record—and a number of eight-minute sermonettes are being recorded for her.

"By distributing these records wherever phonographs are known," says the famous woman evangelist, "I hope to spread the four-square Gospel throughout the world. These sermonettes also may be used where scores of eager, enthusiastic young men and women are being fitted to carry the message of Christ in the far places of the world."

WOMAN KILLED IN AUTO COLLISION

Long Beach Accident Victim
Succumbs to Injuries;
Husband Recovers

Mrs. Helen D. Pruitt, daughter-in-law of Andy Pruitt, Lankershim night-watchman, died in the Seaside hospital, Long Beach, at 1 o'clock this morning, as the result of an automobile accident that occurred shortly after midnight, at the intersection of American avenue and Willow street, Long Beach.

Mrs. Pruitt is understood to have been riding with her husband at the time, when they were struck by another machine as they were making a turn. Mrs. Pruitt was caught in the wreckage and fatally injured. Her husband survived by reason of being thrown clear of the machine. He was slightly injured but will recover.

The driver of the machine causing the accident was questioned by the police but not detained. He stated that the glare of headlights from a machine approaching from the opposite direction prevented his seeing the Pruitt car.

An inquest is being held in Long Beach this afternoon, when eye-witnesses will give their versions of the accident, it is reported from the office of the Los Angeles county coroner.

Funeral arrangements are in charge of the Keith & White Undertaking company, of Lankershim. B. L. White of this company left for Long Beach at an early hour this morning, accompanied by Andy Pruitt, and will bring back the dead woman to Lankershim, following the inquest.

Interment will be at Lankershim.

FAVOR BUSINESS LORE FOR HOMES

Women Bankers Urge Wider Economic Training for Housewives

By DOUGLAS G. TINSLEY
For International News Service
KANSAS CITY, June 28.—That the American woman of today may be able to establish a closer relationship between the home and the business world through more adequate financial knowledge was the belief of visiting women bankers here who attended the Association of Bank Women conferences recently.

Miss Jean Arnold Reid, manager of the women's department of the Bankers' Trust Company of New York, who served overseas in the American Red Cross, advanced the idea that women should be better trained in every way than formerly.

"It is necessary," she said, "that the young women of today who will be the mothers and business women of tomorrow shall take advantage of all the sound advice and valuable information she can."

"This is particularly true regarding financial affairs. The more competent the woman, the better home maker and business woman she will be. I am a firm believer in preparedness and there is no better time to prepare for the battles of life than in youth."

"We always have the idea of money with us. It is inseparable from our every thought and action. How to make and save, and make your savings and earnings go the farthest, can best be accomplished through added knowledge of money and its uses and abuses."

"May I suggest that application, sincerity and a conscience to do the right thing compose the trinity to accompany our endeavors whether in the office or in the home?"

Mrs. Key Cammack, assistant cashier of the New York Trust company, the second woman to be elected to such a position in New York, was emphatic regarding the close contact that should be maintained between the home and business.

Mrs. Cammack said that it was of the utmost importance that every woman should have some sort of business training. "I do not believe that every woman is fitted for a position in the commercial world," she added, "but I do regard a thorough preliminary apprenticeship as absolutely essential."

"Whether she intends to remain at home or go into business, the knowledge of simple financial matters will be a source of pride and individual protection to her. Our civilization has become so complex that my sex cannot remain in the background as formerly. If she is equipped with only a slight knowledge of the hard, cold facts of business, the woman of tomorrow will be better able to solve the problems of daily life."

Students Killed, Jap Teacher Is Suicide

TOKIO, June 28.—Because four of his pupils, on their return home from a school picnic, were crushed to death in a train accident, Mr. Yasutaro Mori, an instructor in the Shikanshima Primary school near Osaka, committed suicide by jumping in front of a train on the same line on which the children were killed. It is reported that blame for the accident was placed on the parents of the children for their death caused Mr. Mori to kill himself.

CITY GETS MONEY PAID FOR PARKS

$51,166.86 Paid Treasury
Over Return of Verdugo
Park and Airport

The city treasury yesterday was enriched by $51,166.86 as the result of the return through escrow of the $33,123.98 involved in the purchase of Verdugo park and $18,042.88 involved in the purchase of the airport.

As the injunction suit brought by George A. Montgomery of 500 Kenneth road sought to restrain the city of Glendale from expending any more money upon these transactions, it has automatically been dropped.

Man Is Grandfather And Grandson Also

ST. LOUIS, June 28.—At 43 Harry Scallet enjoys the distinction of being a grandfather and a grandson at the same time.

Scallet belongs to a family in which five generations are living and healthy. The recent arrival of Allen Perry Scallet was the occasion of a family reunion at which all immediate members of the family attended.

"We would have to hire a hall to get all our relations under one roof," one member of the family remarked.

Allen Perry's father is 23; his grandfather, 43; his great-grandmother, 63, and his great-great-grandmother, 83.

Each 20 years have meant a new generation in the Scallet family.

BALL FANS SEE TWILIGHT GAMES

Big Doings on G. U. H. S. Diamond Five Nights Each Week

All baseball fans and enthusiasts are invited to attend the baseball games being played every evening with the exception of Saturday and Sunday, at the high school grounds at 7:30 p. m., according to R. E. Tucker, director of Community Service.

"There is no admission charge," he remarked, "and in the cool of the evening under large electric lights, the general public is treated to seven innings of baseball."

"Teams from the various organizations, churches and business houses are competing for a cup. Nine teams are in the league and all are working hard to win the championship."

"The first series continues straight through to August 3. A large soft playground ball is used, but the excitement and interest is at just as high a pitch as in regulation baseball. These men who have been working in offices during the day, find keen enjoyment in the game in the cool of the evening on the high school grounds." There is a grandstand for all visitors and ladies are especially invited. The following teams are playing in the schedule:

Boxing Plays No Favorites Of Color Or Nationality

By Wood Cowan

The common conception is that while Ireland might not lead the parade in Fourth of July celebrations or in the manufacture of door knobs, she has a corner on prize fighters. The history of pugilism Irishmen predominate. An Irishman would rather fight than eat, and he certainly likes his chow. So most of the world's greatest fighters have been Irishmen—from James Figg down. This was especially true until about 20 years ago. It was then that Italian, Hebrew, German and Negro bruisers began to show up as championship caliber. There had always been a scattering of different nationalities, but it wasn't until that time that the Irish began to get noticeable competition.

Kid Lavigne, a Frenchman; Frank Erne, a Swiss; Joe Gans, a Negro; Freddie Welsh, an Englishman; Battling Nelson, a German—all champions in their day. In the 90's the sons of the Emerald Isle had things pretty much to themselves with John L. Sullivan, Jim Corbett, Jim Jeffries, Kilrain, Sharkey, McGovern, O'Brien, O'Keefe, McAuliffe, Britt and many others.

But, look over his list of names that have popped into the pugilistic limelight today. They go from a dark black (Siki) through brown (Villa), and a few yellow ones, right up to the simon pure whites, and about every race on the globe is included.

Even among our present-day title holders, while the Irish predominate, we find the Italians; a close second—Genaro, Italian; Joe Lynch, Irish; Johnny Kil-bane, Irish; Johnny Dundee, Italian; Benny Leonard, Hebrew; Mickey Walker, Irish; Johnny Wilson, Italian; McTigue, Irish; Battling Siki, Negro; and Dempsey, Irish.

Of course the Irish have it, but nevertheless it shows that the ring game plays no favorites—that there is no barrier to any nationality or color. Every man has a chance, and the one endowed with the most amount of self-control, mentality, physique, courage and "will to win" gets ample reward in the form of jack of the U. S. mint.

Aré the big purses now being offered for championship boxing bouts the principal cause in the deterioration of title holders?

The argument has been advanced that in the old days of normal financial recompense the title holder would have to keep on fighting in order to procure the wherewithal to live. With the present fortunes now being distributed the champion is in a position to go on indefinitely living on the proceeds of his one winning.

Undoubtedly there is considerable truth in the contention, but as long as the public is willing to be mulcted out of absurd amounts for the privilege of seeing less than indifferent matches, it will be possible for the rival promoters to continue making preposterous offers for the services of the various boxers.

The opinion has been expressed that the manager of Eugene Ciri, the French boxer, is not particularly astute and is not getting the best out of the world's championship title that his man has just won. These critics aver that Ciri immediately should have booked his passage for France, where a royal welcome would have awaited him, with a chance to pick up all kinds of loose change.

At the same time it would remove him from the immediate American market and thus add a premium to his value in the eyes of American promoters. Being in this country makes him immediately accessible and it is the thing that is more difficult of attainment that the most store is set on.

There seems to be a psychology outside of the ring as well as in it, and Ciri's manager is criticized for not having been able to distinguish the fact. On the other hand, Dempsey's manager also has been judged as lacking in acumen for the reason that he could have picked up many times $300,000 by taking on battles for smaller purses and at the same time, kept his man in better condition by active competition in the ring.

Kerns, however, has stood out for big prices and has been uniformly successful in making the promoters come through with his demands, but a half dozen $100,000 would have netted twice what one $300,000 battle brings and would have had the advantage of keeping Dempsey more fit. No one disputes the fact that Dempsey's idleness has done him no good.

GOOD AS HE IS.
Pancho Villa, wily little Filipino fighter, is not the fighter that Kid Denicio, another Filipino fighter, was.

That is the rather unusual assertion of Frank Churchill, who manages Pancho and Elinio Flores. Denicio died in Australia a few years ago of a brain trouble. But for his untimely death he would have been one of the greatest sensations of the ring, chirps Mr. Churchill.

Denicio had for one thing, a freakish build. He was only five feet tall but had an abnormally large torso and neck and spindly legs. "Tis said he wore a seven-ten collar. He weighed, in fighting trim, 118 pounds.

Churchill says that Denicio would have made the world sit up and take notice before his death had not the brain trouble caused him to collapse several times in important bouts when he should have won the fight and some fame thereby.

One of these collapses came when he fought Eugene Ciri in Australia. Denicio was giving Ciri a terrible beating according to Churchill. The Frenchman was showing a gameness which caused the crowd to gasp. His seconds had tried to throw in the sponge. Then, in the seventeenth round, with Ciri all but out, Denicio suddenly collapsed.

Denicio is dead. Churchill has no reason for overestimating his ability. So we can take it that the world lost a mighty fighter in the bud, so to speak.

THE WORLD OVER

Are the big purses now being offered for championship boxing bouts the principal cause in the deterioration of title holders?

The argument has been advanced that in the old days of normal financial recompense the title holder would have to keep on fighting in order to procure the wherewithal to live. With the present fortunes now being distributed the champion is in a position to go on indefinitely living on the proceeds of his one winning.

Undoubtedly there is considerable truth in the contention, but as long as the public is willing to be mulcted out of absurd amounts for the privilege of seeing less than indifferent matches, it will be possible for the rival promoters to continue making preposterous offers for the services of the various boxers.

The opinion has been expressed that the manager of Eugene Ciri, the French boxer, is not particularly astute and is not getting the best out of the world's championship title that his man has just won. These critics aver that Ciri immediately should have booked his passage for France, where a royal welcome would have awaited him, with a chance to pick up all kinds of loose change.

At the same time it would remove him from the immediate American market and thus add a premium to his value in the eyes of American promoters. Being in this country makes him immediately accessible and it is the thing that is more difficult of attainment that the most store is set on.

There seems to be a psychology outside of the ring as well as in it, and Ciri's manager is criticized for not having been able to distinguish the fact. On the other hand, Dempsey's manager also has been judged as lacking in acumen for the reason that he could have picked up many times $300,000 by taking on battles for smaller purses and at the same time, kept his man in better condition by active competition in the ring.

Kerns, however, has stood out for big prices and has been uniformly successful in making the promoters come through with his demands, but a half dozen $100,000 would have netted twice what one $300,000 battle brings and would have had the advantage of keeping Dempsey more fit. No one disputes the fact that Dempsey's idleness has done him no good.

NIGHT STUDENTS SCORE IN TENTH

Neck and Neck Scoring Bee Ends In Defeat of Newton's Sluggers

One of the best games of the Twilight League series was played last night on the Glendale Union High school grounds, Newton's Electric and the Night Schools contesting for ten innings before a decision could be reached.

It was a tie in the seventh, 7 to 7. In the eighth, each slipped in one. Likewise in the ninth. Then, at the opening of the tenth, with the score 9 to 9, the students earned two—making the final tally 11 to 9 in favor of the Night School.

"Brick" Wilde hurled for the students and "Eddy" Hibbard occupied the mound for the electricians in the first six frames, being relieved in the seventh, by Frank McGillis.

The biggest crowd of the season was on hand to see the clash and enthusiasm, starting at high pitch, continued so straight through, it being evident from the start that a real baseball battle had been uncorked.

Kearns Can't See Why He Should Let Dempsey Take Chances At Reduced Rates

By DAVIS J. WALSH
For International News Service

SHELBY, Mont., June 28.—Before leaving for Great Falls early today, Jack Kearns, manager of the world's heavy-weight champion, indicated that he would withdraw his man from the Gibbons match July 4 unless the final installment of $100,000 on Dempsey's contract was forthcoming when due. "Or course" the astute Mr. Kearns qualified, "I cannot anticipate. But I will say this: I can't see sending Dempsey into the ring with the possibility of Gibbons hanging one on his jaw at reduced rates."

Whereupon, the champion's manager climbed aboard a sleeper and departed, leaving to the curious Jim Johnson the privilege of figuring out the whereabouts of the missing $100,000, the $73,000 owed on the fight arena, the $50,000 due on his note to George H. Stanton, the Great Falls banker, and any number of trifling details which, Mr. Johnson will assure you, are a mere nothing.

Ticket Sale Slow
Mr. Johnson simply breathes optimism from every pore and he has many. He is the man that Kearns blames for the condition of affairs that casts a lengthening shadow of doubt over the possibility of the Dempsey-Gibbons enterprise will be conducted, as scheduled.

According to Kearns, it was Johnson's careless regard for fact that resulted in the delay in paying the second $100,000 due on the champion's guarantee and weakened public confidence in the match to the extent that tickets are selling one at a time, if at all.

"On June 15 I called Johnson on the long distance telephone from Butte and asked him if the money was ready," Kearns said. "If it wasn't I informed him, I was ready to do whatever I could in helping him raise the money. His reply was that he wished he was as certain of becoming president of the United States as I was of getting the money. He came right out flat-footed and said that he had the money to pay the guarantee."

What Will He Do?
"If he had taken me into his confidence, I think the situation could have been saved and the people of Montana and the west would have come on to see a real fight for the heavyweight championship."

Whatever action Kearns may elect to take in the event that the final installment turns up missing, as expected, he will lose prestige as a gentleman and manager. If he walks out on the Shelby idealists, the entire country will condemn him for what it will be deemed to term his lack of sportsmanship.

If he sends Dempsey into the ring for the same money the latter would get for taking the first train east he will be held blame-worthy by the champion for having made him another poor bargain.

IMPROVING MAIL SERVICE, SUBJECT

California Postmasters in Session at S. F. Hear Business Men

SAN FRANCISCO, June 28.—Postmasters and postal workers throughout California assembled in San Francisco for their state conference yesterday, heard suggestions from business men of San Francisco on ways of improving mail service at a meeting held in room 237 of the Merchants' Exchange building.

E. A. Parsons, of the Schwabacher-Frey Stationery company, presented the subject of "Early Mails," and Scott F. Ennis, president of the Pacific Fruit company, offered a suggestion for more expeditious handling of mail from San Francisco destined to the San Joaquin valley.

S. L. Bernstein, of Lazare Klein company, discussed "Parcel Post Pick-up." The desirability of having stamps affixed by postal workers to all mail matter on which postage is lacking, collection to be made from consignee, instead of the present practice of returning mail to the sender whenever postage is lacking, was urged.

John H. Bartlett, first assistant postmaster-general, and Irving Glover, third assistant postmaster-general, representing Postmaster-General New, are here from Washington for the conference. A luncheon was tendered the visitors at noon and the postal workers opened their conference at Scottish Rite auditorium. Irving Glover discussed "Your Business and My Business." John A. Britton, vice-president of the Pacific Gas and Electric company, reviewed "The Postal Service from the Outside," while John H. Bartlett dealt with "Shop Talk on Live Postal Issues."

Postmaster D. Ripley Jackson and Assistant Postmaster George Hallett of Glendale were among those attending.

COOKERY SCIENCE TAUGHT AT STORE

Coker & Taylor Stove Dept. Offers Place for Lunches to Be Served

Undoubtedly there is no Glendale business house that is giving patrons more practical service than the Coker & Taylor plumbing company at 209 South Brand boulevard, through a splendid stove department managed by O. J. Merrill, assisted by Mrs. S. H. Border.

The possibilities of the department under Mr. Merrill are unlimited and Mr. Merrill is justly deserving of the commendation of the Coker & Taylor firm and the firm in Loraine, Ohio, manufacturing the Direct Action Gas ranges.

With a fine stock of stoves at his command Mr. Merrill developed the plan of a domestic science laboratory, where the women of Glendale would be welcome to discuss cooking problems and learn new methods in the culinary art.

Will Visit Home

He has extended this plan until now, in addition to the two laboratory sessions each week in charge of Mrs. Border, Glendale women are invited to seek assistance at the Coker & Taylor store and, if they desire Mrs. Border will visit their home to give cooking instruction.

A big feature of the laboratory meetings two hours every Wednesday and Friday afternoon is the awarding every two months of a Direct Action gas range.

A new phase of Mr. Merrill's activity is providing a lunch room, where Glendale organizations may serve luncheons to raise money. The first organization to take advantage of his offer is the Women's Guild of St. Mark's Episcopal church. Today the Guild women served a business lunch at the Coker and Taylor store from 11:30 to 2 o'clock. They will serve weekly luncheons there every Thursday during the summer months.

Other organizations have been invited to plan similar luncheons or cooked food sales.

BUYS MOONSHINE, NEEDS NEW AUTO

Encounter With Bootlegger Followed by Wreck of Indian's New Car

Blow! Another $5000 gone, just like that! But what's the odds, anyway?—there's plenty more where that came from. Leave it to the newly-rich Indian to spend his cash in a spectacular, easy-come, easy-go manner. Which fact is pleasant enough to a certain automobile salesman who profited by a recent amusing incident involving an Indian's propensity to get what he wants when he wants it.

"And why not?" says Louis E. Rice of the Spreckels "Savage" Tire company, who tells the story to E. V. Jellison, local Savage Tire agent, 1006 South Brand boulevard.

An Indian, made suddenly rich by the discovery of oil, wandered into a high-class automobile salesman and purchased a big, expensive car, equipped all around with Savage Aristocrat Cords. Later in the afternoon this Indian returned in a very much battered and decrepit condition, handed the salesman another $5000 and demanded another car. The astonished salesman inquired what had become of the first car. The modern brave gave a very lucid explanation, considering the circumstances:

"Fill up car with gas, start down road. Meet bootlegger with flat tire, trade Savage spare for shine of moonshine. Drink moonshine, step on gas. Trees and houses go by quick. Pretty soon see big bridge coming down road—turn out to let bridge go by—bang! Car gone."

SUNLAND CONDUCT LODGE ON HOTEL PLAN

Community Service Council Turns Over Monte Vista Home to Manager

Following the withdrawal of the offer made by the Council of Community Service to turn Monte Vista Lodge, Sunland's home for children, over to the county authorities, Community Service announces that the lodge will be run this summer as a family hotel by the superintendent, Mrs. E. R. Southwell.

The business office of the Service has been closed in Los Angeles and they will not campaign for funds this summer as has been the custom.

The lodge is a semi-charitable institution, operated as a home for children, and was recently offered to the county with the proviso that the county assume the incumbrance on the property. But, owing to the objections of the residents of Sunland to the place being turned into a health resort by the county, the Community Service withdrew the offer.

The following announcement was made by the president of the Council of Community Service: "The Council of Community Service of California will make no campaign for funds this summer toward the maintenance of children at Monte Vista Lodge."

"The board of directors have decided to close the business office, 215 Coulter building, June 15, 1923. Thereafter, all communications relative to Monte Vista Lodge or to any other business pertaining to the Council of Community Service, should be addressed in care of Mrs. J. T. Anderson, president, 1131 South Elden Ave., Los Angeles."

"During the summer months the superintendent, who has so successfully conducted the Lodge the past season, will have the business management of the Lodge."

"The Lodge will be operated as a family hotel at rates sufficient to cover expenses only. Those desiring board may communicate directly with Mrs. E. R. Southwell, Monte Vista Lodge, Sunland, Cal., or phone Sunland 211."

"The council has a committee, with Mrs. Louisa G. Post, chairman, which will make regular inspection of furniture and furnishings at the Lodge to see that all is properly being cared for."

"All contributions should be made payable to the Council of Community Service of California, care Mrs. J. T. Anderson, President, 1131 South Elden Avenue, Los Angeles, Cal."

"We believe this plan will prove successful, reducing expenses per capita, and sharing responsibility."

Officer Craves Dip, Finds Booze in Bath

BOSTON, June 28.—A large tank containing thirty gallons of moonshine was discovered by the East Bottoms police attached to the bathtub in a room leading off the rear of a cigar store at No. 141 Chelsea street, East Boston.

Police suspected Julius Berkowitz, proprietor of the cigar store, of selling liquor. A search yielded to reveal any of the forbidden "booze." Then Sergeant Freeman and his bluecoats adjourned to a room in the rear. The sergeant was hot. He saw a nice, clean bathtub and decided he would wash up. He turned on the cold water faucet. A stream of liquor flowed forth from a tank in the wall attached to the faucet.

NAZARENES HEAR VIVID DISCOURSE

Neglect of Salvation Is Rev. Swaney's Theme At Gospel Tent

"The Neglect of so Great a Salvation," was the subject of Rev. L. E. Swaney's sermon last night, at the Nazarene tent on West Harvard street. The text was taken from Hebrews, 2:3—"How shall we, escape if we neglect so great a salvation?"

By many forceful illustrations, Rev. Swaney showed the results that followed the rejection of the salvation Christ offers.

These meetings continue to draw large audiences and appear very helpful to those attending them. Rev. Swaney enjoys a reputation as one of the greatest preachers who has ever conducted a campaign in Glendale.

Will Train Coolies To Run Street Cars

PEKING, June 28.—The transportation of ricksha coolies into tramway conductors may be one of the interesting changes in Peking within the next few years, if the plans of the Peking Electric Tramways company materialize.

A recent argument between the organization and the Peking Chamber of Commerce as to what disposition will be made of the unemployed coolies since the tramway is a reality has resulted in the decision that the coolies themselves must solve their problem by learning the art of operating an electric car.

The tramway company has promised to employ just as many coolies as possible on the tram lines of Peking, provided the coolies undergo training in operating the street cars and prove sufficiently honest to be satisfactory conductors. It is estimated that a minimum of 5000 coolies will be out of work in Peking alone when the tramway becomes a reality.

Private Baths Scarce In Alaska Hostelrys

WASHINGTON, June 27.—Private baths are scarce in Alaska. This was emphasized by the department of the interior in an announcement that a brand new governmental hotel at Curry, housing a maximum of 125 guests, would have only one "private bath."

The hotel incidentally boasts the "only private bath" between Seward and Fairbanks, on the Alaskan railroad, a distance of 467 miles.

Mother Wins College Degree; Explains Why

"Of course, I couldn't give full time to college work. My husband used to get up in the morning and help out by putting the kettle on. Then, when I gave the children their breakfast and sent them off to school I caught my train. Last year I took five courses.

"It was on the rides back and forth that I did my studying. I begrudged every minute for it. I always got a seat. I just had to. When I came home in the afternoon I did the housework. In the beginning I had more help with that than I have had lately. Of course, I waited till the children were old enough to be responsible for themselves.

"Measles Was Crisis
"Occasionally I had an evening I could devote to study. I was always fond of it and love to make translations. I think I would like to try writing fiction, although I would probably be better at preparing articles."

Mrs. Clay recalled with amusement a siege of measles that placed her two-year-old son in quarantine for two weeks. "The children's only fear was that Mother wouldn't 'pull through' her classes, but she made up the lost time after her family got well.

"I was engaged when I entered Vassar in 1907," Mrs. Clay said. In 1909 Katharine Bouton left to marry John Clay, who writes technical articles for confectionery trade papers. Two years ago Mrs. Clay entered Barnard. Defending the 1909 victory of heart over mind, she explained:

"Though I began college hoping always to finish, you know we are composed of different elements, and we must listen to all of them."

'Fourth Degree' For Criminals In 'Twilight Sleep' Proves Innocence Of Alleged Slayer

By ELLIS H. MARTIN
For International News Service

SAN FRANCISCO, June 27.—The "fourth degree" has arrived. Noted criminologists who watch demonstrations of the new "truth compelling" drug, scopolamin, in San Quentin prison today, agreed that a new factor in criminology has arrived which may throw into disarray the brutal "third degree" and make the innovation one of the chief aids to criminal investigation.

In a series of tests conducted by Dr. R. E. House, Ferris, Texas, physician, who after use of scopolamin as a "twilight sleep" producer conceived the idea of its value in criminology, established these things:

Aquits One Man

1—Supplied corroboration of judgment of a jury in acquitting one man of wife murder.

2—Revealed the identity of a Belgian war hero serving time for automobile larceny—something the man had forgotten himself.

3—Supplied officers with information that may clear a man serving life sentence for murder.

4—Revealed many alleged crimes on the part of a convict unknown to officers.

Under the influence of scopolamin the subject loses use of conscious will. Dr. House explained to the noted physicians, criminologists and psychologists who followed carefully his experiments. The subject retains memory and answers truthfully any question put to him.

"Jury Was Right"
Henry Wilkins, tried for the murder of his wife, voluntarily asked a test and under the influence of the drug related in even greater detail the story of the holdup in which his wife was killed and convinced August Vollmer, "scientific" police chief of Berkeley, the jury was right in acquitting him.

At San Quentin prison the additional tests revealed Eugene O'Leary as the son of Pierre Burns of Luxembourg, Belgium, five times wounded in the Argonne. He pointed out the wounds which prison authorities did not know existed and examination proved him correct. A re-examination of his war record is to be made.

Denies Murder, Admits Theft
John L. Farrar under the "truth serum" revealed the murder he is serving time for was committed by his partner and John Johnson, a negro, admitted his guilt of grand larceny and other misdemeanors.

"My idea in making the tests is purely humanitarian. Dr. House, who is here attending the seventy-fourth annual American medical association convention, explained. "About five per cent of the persons incarcerated in prisons are innocent and scopolamin offers a solution of this situation."

The tests were voluntary. "Blue Beard" Watson, accused slayer of many women who has claimed he could not remember all of his victims declined to undergo the test.

Quash Indictments In Coal Conspiracy

INDIANAPOLIS, June 28.—Attorney-General Harry M. Daugherty moved to nolle prosequi indictments against 127 coal operators and mine workers officials and ninety-nine corporations charged with conspiracy to control prices and limit the production of coal in federal court here today.

The motion was sustained by Judge Albert B. Anderson, after a statement had been read by Daugherty reviewing the case.

Will Burn Old Ship To Recover Metals

WOODMONT, Conn., June 28.—A site has been prepared on the shore here for the funeral pyre of the steamer "Puritan," which in the palmy days of the Charles S. Mellen regime was "Queen of Long Island Sound," and here the stripped hull will go up in flames so that wreckers may go at her metals more easily.

HARDING IN PLEA FOR WORLD COURT

Makes Strong Argument In Presence of Senator
William Borah

kind of a world court." The words are Mr. Harding's own. And he will continue, his advisers said today, to "pack along" in his advocacy of the court in the rest of the speeches he will deliver in the northwest before his audience.

Makes Strong Appeal
POCAHELLO, Idaho, June 28.—With W. E. Borah, United States Senator, seated on the platform, President Harding today made a strong appeal for his world court proposal and also came out against the arbitration of international disputes and for the settlement of such disputes by an international court.

"I would rather a thousand times," Mr. Harding said, feelingly, "trust the interests of this America of ours to a court made up of judges of impeccable character and ability, on which we are represented, than I would to any arbitration."

"I cherish an American aloofness from the intrigues and conspiracies of the old world as much as anyone in this country," the president went on. "But we have witnessed a war which should never have occurred, in which millions of lives were sacrificed and billions of treasure spent, and sorrow and havoc wrought from which the world will not recover for two centuries."

"I do not know whether the time will come when men will be so driven by conscience that they will do entirely away with armed conflict."

"But I do believe that this great American people should give of their influence to directing the world to a plane where war cannot occur."

"I do not say that a world court can stop all war. I wish it could. But I do say to you here and now that I believe it is a great step toward the preservation of that world peace which we so earnestly desire."

Not Issue, Says Borah
Senator Borah, who at times has been one of the severest critics of the administration, stood by in smiling approval as Mr. Harding made his plea for the abolition of war, and for American participation in an international court which will be freed from the jealousies and domination of the old world.

Senator Borah did NOT speak from the platform, but he later said that President Harding's preaching of the absolute divorcement of the world court from the League of Nations has effectively removed the court as an issue in American politics.

"I believe," said the Idaho senator, "that Mr. Harding has correctly interpreted the moral and political sentiment of the American people. That is that they are in favor of an international court of justice for the settlement of justiciable questions."

Boy Badly Burned In Cracker Accident

friends, his mother having gone shopping and his father being at work. The stranger then slipped away without anyone learning his name.

Mother Arrives
When the mother arrived a few moments later, Dr. R. M. Farnham, of Glendale, was already in attendance and had made a preliminary examination, applying medicines and bandages to the burned surfaces.

Fortunately for the child the major portions of the body were not touched by the flames, nor were his eyes injured. His hair, however, was almost completely singed off, and his face was badly burned, in addition to his arms and legs, from which the scorched clothing hung in shreds when he was first brought home.

When it was decided to send little Lee Humiston to the hospital, an ambulance from the Jewel City Undertaking company was dispatched with James E. Phillips in personal attendance.

Taken to Hospital
Carefully the boy was lifted onto a cot and wheeled from the house to the machine. He was lifted in and the doors shut. There followed an easy journey of some miles. When next the doors opened he was lifted out and wheeled into the receiving room of the Los Angeles Children's hospital, Hollywood, where a fight will be made to bring him through without any lasting effects of the strange and unfortunate accident.

While it is not thought that the child's life is in danger, according to Dr. Farnham, no chances will be taken. And, particularly, every effort will be made to heal the burns on his face so that disfigurement will not result.

HUNT FOR WOMAN

LOS ANGELES, June 28.—Acting on a death tip, cryptically phrased in French, "cherchez la femme," which translated means, "Search for the woman," police today sought a pretty young woman who recently was seen in the company of Theodore Cornell, whose dead body was found here in a hotel room last night. The tip was in the form of a note placed where investigators easily would find it. No marks of violence were on the body.

OPPOSED BY WEEKS

WASHINGTON, June 28.—Direct opposition to the employment of the army in reinforcing the prohibition laws was voiced by Secretary of War Weeks.

WOMEN DISAGREE ON WEDDING AGES

December and May Romances Rouse Spirited Debate in Syracuse

By CHESTER B. BAHN
For International News Service
SYRACUSE, N. Y., June 28.—

May and December romances: Yes, says Mrs. Marta Wittowska, Mallory, Syracuse prima donna, who, before she retired from the operatic stage to wed, was a favorite of the Chicago Grand Opera company.

No, contends Mrs. Blanch Weaver Baxter, docente of the Syracuse Museum of Fine Arts.

Syracuse's society circles are debating the May and December romance problem today as a result of a statement by Edna Fortescue, English writer, who holds that the increasing number of such alliances is due to the fact that modern man is using the fire and enthusiasm of youth to make a place for himself in the world, preferring to wait until later to select a wife.

In this way men do not pick wives they will later tire of, it is argued, and attract young girls because of the respect the flapper has for the worldly man and because of the greater luxuries he can provide.

Near Ages Favored
"The chances for domestic happiness are much less, I suppose I am old-fashioned, but I often think that two young people, very nearly of an age, who are attracted to each other and marry, beginning life together, get the most out of the marriage relation."

Mrs. Mallory, for the others, answers:

"It is the man who has done something in life that the young woman of character seeks for a husband. Against his lost youth she sets what to her are greater advantages—the position he occupies, the respect he commands, the practical wisdom he can distill and the fact that, all things considered, he is more companionable than the callow youth of her own age."

Romance Is Brief
"The girl may miss the romance of a youthful lover, but too often romance is short-lived, and passion does not long survive poverty."

"Women in these days hold their age much better than do men. Today the woman of 50 doesn't look more than 35, whereas the man of 50 looks all of it, and I think a woman makes a mistake where she marries a man much older than herself."

Start Selling Stock In Julian Refinery

Excitement is rife today at the Glendale offices of C. C. Julian, 229 North Brand boulevard. After months of expectancy the big refinery which the widely known southern California producer has been promising to start, is now a matter of record and stock is being sold. No doubt this industrial issue will be oversubscribed in a few days, the same as other Julian stocks.

Great care must be used in introducing anything new into Cuba because its reputation will be permanently injured if the first few users are dissatisfied in any way.

Two Birdmen Killed When Plane Collapses

DENVER, June 28.—Bert Cole, locally known as the "dare-devil of Denver," an airplane pilot, and George Lawley, widely known as a parachute jumper, plunged 3,000 feet to death in the residence section here today when their plane collapsed in the midst of a loop the loop. Hundreds witnessed the accident, and a short time after the plane fell fifty policemen were struggling with a mob of thousands who raced in motor cars and on foot to the scene of the accident.

James Falkner, pilot of another plane which was racing Cole's plane and likewise performing stunts before the fall, narrowly escaped crashing in his plane when he sought to land in haste on learning of Cole's air-plane drop.

MEMORY WIZARD ASTOUNDS CLUB

David M. Roth Remembers
Names and Numbers of Exchangeites

David M. Roth of Los Angeles, author of the Roth course, gave a demonstration of his ability as a memory wizard yesterday noon in the banquet room of the Tuesday Afternoon club house at the weekly luncheon of the Glendale Exchange club.

"Most people have an unreliable memory," asserted Mr. Roth. "The average memory is rather defective. My own memory was extremely poor before I commenced to develop it."

Members of the club agreed after the demonstration that there is nothing defective about his memory at the present time. Names of objects were called out by different persons and written down in irregular order while Mr. Roth sat with his back to the blackboard. Shortly after the last object had been named, he was able to repeat the entire list from memory. Each space was numbered and he was able to tell in which space any object was placed when it was mentioned. This stunt was duplicated with three-figure numbers.

Pupils Recites
Harry Peters of Los Angeles, a pupil of Mr. Roth's, also gave a demonstration of his ability as a memory expert. When the names of a number of states were called out, he was able to tell instantly the population. He stated that he had spent only an hour and a half in memorizing the lists from which the checks were made.

Both Mr. Roth and Mr. Peters were able to call everyone at the luncheon by name. Mr. Roth was frequently interrupted by requests for telephone numbers of club members, which he was able to recall without hesitation. He had received a list of club members but had met only two of them previously.

The attendance prize, which was the five booklets of the Roth Memory Course donated by Exchangeite S. F. Bell, was won by William H. Block.

Whitaker Presides
Vice-President George Whitaker presided at the meeting. Ex-President W. B. Kelly, who has been absent from the club meetings because of illness, was present also.

The interest which the Exchange Club is taking in the boys' band which is being organized was commended by R. E. Tucker, director of Community Service.

Realtors Demand Repeal Of Lien Law; Travesty On Justice, Is Claim

UNSCRUPULOUS, fly-by-night contractors, who shield themselves behind the mechanic's lien law and use it as an avenue of escape from paying their bills to the firms that furnish the materials for the jobs they undertake, were scored by members of the Glendale Realty Board at their weekly luncheon in the Harriett Mae Tea Room on East Harvard street yesterday, and plans were launched to start a movement to have the present lien law repealed by the next session of the legislature.

The matter was introduced by Charles B. Guthrie, who presided in the absence of President C. D. Thom. Mr. Guthrie stated that he had paid a contractor for a job that the latter had done for him, on receiving the assurance of the contractor that all bills had been paid, but later, he declared, material men appeared with bills for over $700 which he was forced to pay a second time, while the contractor who had failed to settle with the material men was just that much better off than he would have been had he paid off his obligations.

Law Is Travesty
Mr. Guthrie asserted that the present mechanic's lien law is a travesty on justice, in that it permits the collection of a bill that has already been paid, without affording the victim any recourse at law against the crooked contractor who had skipped without paying the bills he should have paid. This condition, he declared, is affecting many newcomers to the state, people who are ignorant of the legal points connected with the building of their homes here, and who are, in many cases, forced to pay extra sums of money if not threatened with the loss of the homes they have erected. Material men, he stated, will deliver supplies to a contractor even though they know he is crooked, knowing that they have a recourse in the law that permits them to place a lien on the property and collect from the owner.

Mr. Guthrie declared his intention to carry the matter to the next convention of the California Real Estate association and start a battle that will, he hopes, result in the repeal of the present law by the next legislature, stating that the repeal of the law is absolutely vital to business in this state.

Harry E. Miller, former justice of the peace, contributed his own experience in the operation of the law as he observed it from the bench, stating that he has known cases of contractors forging receipts in order to collect money and then leaving for parts unknown and permitting the material men to put on a lien. Such contractors, he declared, are guilty of a felony, and the present law is responsible for turning out a large number of crooks in this line of work. Judge Miller's statements were supplemented by P. J. Hayselden, who stated that there is no law to convict a contractor even if complaints are filed in proper form with the authorities, both district attorneys and judges having admitted that the law is a failure.

Demand Law's Repeal
It was brought out by several speakers that responsible contractors favor the repeal of the

GARDEN PARTY IS BRILLIANT EVENT

William S. Rattray Home Is Scene of Gathering to Aid Tuesday Club

The beautiful gardens surrounding the foothill home of Mr. and Mrs. William S. Rattray at 286 Kenneth road was the scene last night of one of the most brilliant summer social events given this season under the auspices of the members of the Music Section of the Tuesday Afternoon Club. The affair was given as a benefit for the piano fund.

Members of the gate committee consisting of Mesdames Nathan Rigdon, Dora L. Gibson, F. H. Wallace, Calvin Whiting, Charles Marlenee, Enona Hopkins, F. H. Wallace, Helen Sawyer and guests, the several hundred guests who responded to the invitation extended by the members of the Music Section and a delightful evening of entertainment was enjoyed.

Brilliant Scene
Elaborate plans were carried out to make the affair successful. Mrs. Warren Roberts, curator of the section and her assistants, had the entire garden wired for electric lighting of hundreds of brilliant Japanese lanterns, which produced an unusually artistic setting for the program given on the grassy terrace directly in front of the residence, by pupils of the Pearl Kellar school of dancing, as follows:

The "Garden Dance" with Dorothy Dutton, Shirley Hitchcock, Glen Hitchcock, Helen Orr, Leona Hunt, Evelyn Hunt.

"Ballroom Dance," by the Turner Sisters.

"Bow and Arrow" by Gould Moore.

"El Capitán" and "Patriotic" by Little Eleanor Marek.

The "California Poppy Girls" with the Hunt Sisters, assisted by Dorothy Dutton, Helen Orr, Julia Pelley, Gertrude Muske, Grace Hoffman and Nancy Taylor.

Intermission dance, "Autumn" by Ann Elizabeth Wilkinson.

Russian Dance, by the Turner Sisters.

A Spirit of the South Seas, by Julia Pelley.

Gypsy Tambourine Dance, by Dorothy Dutton, Shirley Hitchcock, Glen Hitchcock, Helen Orr, Evelyn Hunt and Leona Hunt.

Dancing and Cards
Later in the evening, dancing was enjoyed on the tennis courts which were also electrically lighted with Japanese lanterns and over which had been built a canopy of red, white and blue crepe paper streamers with golden stars. Music for the dancing was furnished by the ever popular Kelly's eight-piece Shrine Club orchestra. During intermission dainty favors were distributed to the dancers. Mrs. Bine J. Smith was in charge of serving punch on the tennis courts.

In the Rattray home, tables had been arranged for bridge and 500, over which Mrs. Helen Campbell presided, assisted by Mesdames A. D. Dunlop and F. S. Card. Mrs. Sallie C. Braden was in charge of serving the guests playing cards.

Mrs. Elliott Hensel assisted Mrs. Braden. Mrs. L. E. Gates, assisted by Marjorie and Nancy Snow in gypsy costume, had charge of the fortune telling booth. Assisting Mrs. Bine J. Smith in serving punch to the dancers were Mrs. C. L. Hill, Miss Leona McLain and Mrs. Bert Woodward.

Mr. Rattray distributed attractive favors during the intermission. Mrs. Roberts states that fully 500 persons were in attendance.

REALTORS TO AID PUBLICITY PLANS

Committee Will Confer With
C. of C. Representatives
On Advertising

The publicity committee of the Glendale Realty Board was yesterday instructed to co-operate with the Glendale Chamber of Commerce in raising money to be devoted exclusively to advertising Glendale, and a conference of the publicity committee of the Realty Board and the advertising committee of the Chamber of Commerce will be held in the rooms of the latter organization on Friday night to discuss ways and means of co-operating in the plans that are now being formed by the Chamber of Commerce to spread the news of this city over the Southland and in other portions of the country. This action was taken at the weekly meeting of the Realty Board following the reading of a communication from the ways and means committee of the Chamber of Commerce, asking for the assistance of the Realty Board.

It was pointed out by W. L. Twining, chairman of the Chamber of Commerce advertising committee, that this is a matter of vital importance to every organization in the city, and especially so to the Realty Board, and the only way the best results can be obtained is by co-operation. Peter Hansen, chairman of the Realty Board's publicity committee, expressed himself as being in favor of co-operation if the Chamber of Commerce would furnish the right kind of advertising, and W. A. Horn also favored the appointment of the committee to work with the Chamber of Commerce.

P. J. Hayselden, a director of the Chamber of Commerce, assured the members of the Realty Board that the service fund that is being raised will be spent entirely on advertising Glendale, and that the proper kind of publicity would be carried on in a manner that would help every organization in the city.

Hayward Is Honored
As a result of the recent campaign to bring the members of the Realty Board into the association on a 100 per cent basis, the organization is now entitled to another state director, and E. P. Hayward, secretary of the Realty Board, was unanimously chosen to have his nomination submitted to the president of the state association, Frazier O. Reed, for appointment as Glendale's new director.

Charles B. Guthrie, the present director, expressed the pleasure he felt at having Mr. Hayward associated with him on the state board.

It was decided to send a telegram to Dr. Jessie A. Russell at the National Real Estate convention at Cleveland, and to send it in such a way that the presiding officer of the convention would have to read it from the platform, and thus bring Glendale to the attention of all the delegates assembled. The wire is to be filled with Glendale data as well as with greetings to Dr. Russell.

The peacock booklet that was printed for distribution at the Cleveland convention will be distributed through the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce and the Pacific Electric agencies, to persons inquiring about the cities of the Southland, and local realtors will also send out a large number of them with their correspondence.

H. L. Finlay was introduced as a new member of the board, succeeding L. A. Hart, who has transferred his membership to the firm of Finlay & Preston, 131 South Brand boulevard.

Scots to Gather for Annual Picnic, Games

Scottish residents of Southern California will hold their annual picnic and reunion at Plummer Park, 7329 Santa Monica boulevard, July 4, under the auspices of the Caledonian club. The plans include a social period from 9 a. m. until noon, when a basket dinner will be held, tea and coffee being provided.

The program will include dancing in the pavilion, amateur athletic events, games and sports for young and old, with soccer football games, bagpipe playing and Highland dress and dancing competitions, for which suitable prizes will be awarded the winners.

The park may be reached by the Santa Monica boulevard car leaving the station at Hill street, Los Angeles.

Cool Weather After Fatal Storm in N. Y.

NEW YORK, June 28.—Cooler weather prevailed here today following last Tuesday's electrical storm which took a toll of four lives, injured more than a score and caused $500,000 damage to property in New York and vicinity. After two days during which the mercury hovered around the 90 mark, the temperature at 8 o'clock this morning was 78 with a cool breeze blowing.

Broadway was in mourning this morning. At the Lambs, Friars and Green Room clubs, plans were discussed for a public burial for Bert Savoy—Everett L. MacKenzie—who, with Jay Brennan, formed one of the most widely known vaudeville teams on the American stage. Savoy was killed by a bolt of lightning at Long Beach.

Expert Makes Suggestions How Downtown Glendale May Be 'All Lit Up' Every Night

By GIL A. COWAN

If you want to learn how to get "all lit up" consult an electrician! He can tell you how to improve the lights of your store, in your home or at your theatre, if you happen to own one. The electrician is one of the most enlightening artisans of the day, we'd say. So it was that in reference to making Glendale's business district more scintillant by night we had conversations with Peter Diederich, who is superintendent of plant production for the public service department of the city of Glendale.

Indeed, we used to know Mr. Diederich when he personally "lit up" the town, turning on the juice every night and turning it off again. "Shooting trouble," installing meters and setting poles with the aid of one assistant. Now he has eighty men in his charge, a good sized office, warehouse and several hundred thousand—maybe more than a million—dollars' worth of equipment to look after as a matter of course.

Lights Need Study
As we were about to recount the lighting of Glendale's business district is becoming a question for studios consideration. It may take two or three years to work out a definite program, but nevertheless a change is coming. Mr. Diederich says so, for the present system is inadequate.

"You cannot put a heavier load on the present wiring for the five light standards in the Broadway and Brand boulevard lighting district," he stated, "and as the country is becoming accustomed to more illumination it will be necessary to install something different."

As for the Los Angeles Broadway lights Mr. Diederich states there has never been anything like them to reveal the skyline, but he does not think they will serve so well in Glendale. The city would have to be more uniformly built to two or more stories, otherwise a great deal of the illumination would be lost.

Advices Flood Lights
Then, too, Brand boulevard is so broad and Broadway so wide that it would take a large amount of electricity to make the desired impression. It is his opinion that for the time being the larger buildings would do well to use flood lights from opposite sides of the street to give the imposing effect so noticeable in daylight.

Mr. Diederich is considering the use of flood lights at Broadway and Brand boulevard, also at Cypress avenue and Brand boulevard, the two Pacific Electric transfer corners where the greatest possible illumination is necessary for the protection of pedestrians. Five arc lights are not

Tries to Juice Sukey; Gets His Leg Broken

ELKO, Nev., June 28.—Desire for fresh milk to replace the customary condensed milk of the cattle ranch cost Robert Merriwell, employee of the McKee Cattle Company, a broken leg.

Feeling the urge for a lactical fluid, Merriwell sallied forth and roped a range cow with the view of extracting a quart or so of milk. The cow resented this unwonted familiarity. Merriwell tied the bovine's legs and started milking. The cow lunged, struggled to free its legs and fell on Merriwell. His leg was snapped below the knee.

J. P. Sherin, who is dead, and A. E. Carey, who is near death, are said by the officers to have been surprised while loading liquor into a car five miles east of here.

Highway Bond Sale Up for Fourth Time

SACRAMENTO, June 28.—Sale of $5,000,000 worth of state highway bonds, bearing four and one quarter per cent interest, has been postponed until next Tuesday because of the unsettled condition of the bond market. It was so announced today by State Treasurer Charles G. Johnson.

Three previous attempts have been made to float the state securities, but bidders failed to appear on each occasion. The money must be available within the next sixty days to finance "going contracts" on highway work.

TODAY—Memorial to Confederacy; the Stone Mountain Project. The "Business Chance" Hoax; Los Angeles Plans Cleanup, by William G. Cayce, Los Angeles correspondent.

By LARRY SMITHS.
For International News Service

ATLANTA, Ga., June 28.—Across the sheer granite face of Stone Mountain, within a few months, will march the heroic figures of the Southern Confederacy in a memorial as splendid in its conception and execution and as audacious in its proportions as any raised by the Egyptian Pharaohs.

These are the heroes of the Confederacy, carved into the stubborn face of the granite knob which rises perpendicularly a thousand feet from the Georgia plain, twenty miles north of Atlanta. At their head will ride General Robert E. Lee, a mounted figure two hundred feet high, whose horse's hoofs will spurn the graven battle field four hundred feet above the mountain's base.

Butzon Borghum, noted American sculptor, has designed the memorial and will supervise its completion. The machinery with which he and his aides will work is as colossal as the memorial itself.

Seated on a tiny platform 600 feet above the plain, the sculptor will direct a gigantic pantograph, an adaptation of the same little instrument of cross pivoted levers found in toy shops or on drafting tables. In use, a point traces the original design, and the design, many times enlarged, is reproduced by a marker at the end of the furthest lever.

The long lever of the Confederate memorial pantograph measures 233 feet, several feet higher than the average seventeen-story building. Along the face of the rock precipice the lever will have a working radius of 200 feet.

The epic picture which Borghum plans to carve on the great monolith of granite lends itself tremendously to the imagination. The work itself forms a departure almost revolutionary in the arts of sculpture and engineering. Problems must be met and solved that never before have been encountered.

A gigantic derrick will be erected near the top of the precipice for raising equipment from below and fixing the working super-structure to the mountain's face. Projecting a hundred feet from the abrupt rocky face, somewhat above where the highest carving of the memorial will be made, steel trusses will jut out, anchored on the precipice at right angles to it, and supported by a series of cables running to anchorages high on the granite knob.

On top of these trusses a track will carry a traveling crane for raising and lowering workers and tools and removing loose rock from the mountain. The heavy rock will be lowered and saved for constructing the large amphitheatre which is part of the memorial plan.

Along the bottom of the trusses another track will carry an inverted steel tower, hanging downward for 110 feet. This is the carrying arm of the huge pantograph.

The sculptor will work from a self-leveling platform which rides an upper pivot of the pantograph 600 feet from the ground on the side toward the face of the cliff. Electric control devices operated from the platform govern its movement. It may be swung away from the face of the cliff, that the sculptor may get perspective, or swung in that he may closely examine the progress of the work. Pneumatic drills, also controlled from the platform, will batter away at the rock's tough face.

With a rattle like a battery of machine guns they are capable of chewing a slot a foot deep and six feet long in the granite every hour.

The special designs for the machinery were donated by seventeen leading American engineers. Funds for the construction of the awesome memorial were contributed in many southern and northern states.

BILLY WHISKER

By FRANCES TREGO MONTGOMERY

While Billy had been out with the old goat, Stubby and Button had been seeing the sights in another part of the city.

Both were feeling fine, having had a feast of meat which they had been lucky enough to pick up in a butcher shop they were passing.

Seeing the butcher standing in an open doorway talking, Stubby ran around to a back door which was standing open, while Button jumped through a side window and soon both had made a good meal on the scraps they found on the floor.

"That juicy fresh meat certainly did taste good after the diet we have had on salt and smoked meat," said Button when the two were out on the street again.

"I wonder where Billy is," said Stubby, "and if he has succeeded in finding the vegetable garden he was looking for? If not, there are plenty of fruit and vegetable stands on this street where he can get something to eat."

"I never worry about Billy getting lost," replied Button. "He always manages to find something to eat somehow or another."

"Listen! Where is all that clapping of hands and stamping of feet coming from?" asked Stubby. They both listened with ears sticking straight up and heads turned to one side in an alert manner.

"It can't be far from here, and just hear them whistle!" said Button. "Let us run along and see where it comes from, and what they are so hilarious about," proposed Stubby.

They had not gone fifty feet when they came to a passageway that led to a round, two-story structure with seats all around it. The lower story was boarded up, so no one could see in, while the upper story was open to let in the air.

Just as they discovered this, the clapping, stamping and whistling began again, and they could see the people on the upper seats waving their hats and acting greatly excited.

"What in the world is going on in there, I wonder?" said Button. "A native game of some kind, I expect, as all these people on the benches seem to be small and Spanish looking."

"It must be a fight of some kind. Probably a cock fight, for all these southern races are fond of cock and bull fights. The place is small for a bull fight, so it must be a cock or dog fight," said Stubby.

(Tomorrow you will see if Stubby was right.)

A well-dressed, portly woman had boarded the train at the last minute and inadvertently taken a seat in the car reserved for smokers.

In a few moments a man directly behind began filling his pipe, and shortly tobacco smoke pervaded the whole car.

"Sir," she announced in a stern voice, "smoking always makes me ill."

The offender puffed contentedly and at the same time replied: "It really does? Well, then, take my advice, madam, and give it up."—Everybody's.

A Handy Secret

Ella Kimball waited for the taxi which would take her to the train and the mountains. This would be her first visit to a place favored annually by her sister, Mary. Mary had given up the trip this year, had bribed the children with gifts, and was prepared to remain in town.

"Aunt Ella," a young nephew squirmed uncomfortably, "if you promise not to tell anyone I'll let you in on a secret. Nobody knows but me and Bill and two kids who were there last year." Ella listened tolerantly to the weighty secret of the twelve-year old.

From the first Ella Kimball loved the place. She would have the opportunity here to plash the story she was going to write. Every day she took long walks, seeking out places from which she could look down on the waves of treetops and the little string which was a river. After a while she wished she had company, that she had not come so early in the season.

"If there were only another girl here," she said, then tilted her chin defiantly, "or a man. I might as well be honest with myself, I'd rather meet a nice man than a girl."

In front of the girl the rock wall fell, perpendicular drop to an appalling depth. Behind her, and almost as steep, rose a bank of broken rock in which some few shrubs had found root. It was twenty feet from the small ledge upon which she sat to the trail on the hilltop.

Stewart Cannon stopped whistling and stood still when he saw her. He knew this country, and once had tried to reach the ledge.

"My gosh, but she's a cool one!" There was fear and admiration in the tone. "Imagine falling down there and waiting just as pretty as you please for someone to come along to the rescue. Most girls would scream their heads off."

"I say, don't be frightened," he called down. "I'll go over to the cabin for a rope and will be right back. Keep your nerve and don't look down!" As Ella looked up he waved and disappeared. In a half hour he was back.

"Don't try to talk. I'm tying one end of this to a tree and will let the other down." Again he disappeared. Then a rope slipped down the bank, and the man's face showed again.

"Shall I come down and help you tie it on?"

I wonder how many of my readers have experimented with the new sealing wax work? There is a rage at the present moment, for sealing wax beads, sealing wax pendants, and articles decorated with colored sealing wax. The larger manufacturers of sealing wax (and crepe paper, etc.) are publishing booklets on how to use sealing wax in this way and are charging ten cents for the booklet.

But it is not really necessary to have such a booklet in order to learn the sealing wax work. I think I can tell you here how it is done. The only tools which I use are a hatpin, a small alcohol lamp and a nut-pick. (I know that special tools are being sold for the work—but my home tools do very well.) If you haven't an alcohol lamp, any flame will do—such as a gas-range flame, an oil-range flame, or even a candle flame.

To Make Sealing Wax Beads—

Take any soft paper which when moistened, can be rolled into pulp. Form this pulp into a small round head and stick it on a hatpin. Now take an ordinary stick of sealing wax—any preferred color—and heat it in the flame till soft; smear it over the paper bead. Then take a stick of gold sealing wax, and when softened in the flame, dot the colored bead with gold. (If you wish, you can make the entire head of sealing wax by just daubing it on around a hatpin till it is piled on thickly in a bead shape, but it is less expensive to have a paper bead foundation. To get the all-sealing-wax bead off the hatpin, heat the hatpin on either side of the bead—which melts the inside sealing wax slightly so that the hatpin can be drawn out of the bead.)

To Make Sealing Wax Pendants—

Take a small, oblong cardboard price tag, such as come on new dresses, and cover this smoothly with hot sealing wax (both sides of the tag). Now take a contrasting color and make a sealing wax rose in the middle of the tag as follows: Daub on a generous lump of the hot wax and, before it dries, take a nut-pick and make little curved lines in it—to represent rose petals. Small, green, oblong daubs of sealing wax make the rose foliage. Wear this pendant on a long black cord around the neck.

VERY CHIC AND SIMPLE

The designer of this frock in rose-color French eponge makes clever use of a picot trimming of white pique. The vest is of rose organdy, hemstitched at the top, the open front, collar and turn-back cuffs. There are any number of suitable fabrics for a style like this. The selection of a suitable one depends, of course, upon the use for which it is intended. In one of the crepes or Egyptian prints it develops into a smart afternoon frock. Medium size requires three and five-eighths yards thirty-six-inch material. Pictorial Review Dress No. 1572. Sizes thirty-four to fifty inches bust. Price 35 cents.

EXCEEDINGLY EFFECTIVE DRAPE

The discriminating woman with a penchant for draperies will find much to admire in this model of caramel-brown satin crepe. The collar has a rolled edge of self-material, and this is repeated on the cascade which droops in a point below the hem. A touch of color is supplied in the buckle of green-and-blue enamel that holds the soft girdle in place. Medium size requires five and three-eighths yards thirty-six-inch material. Pictorial Review Dress No. 1553. Sizes thirty-four to forty-eight inches bust. Price 35 cents.

ANSWERS TO CORRESPONDENTS

My Dear Followers: When sending for material which we offer you, please remember to enclose a stamped envelope bearing your full name and address. The pamphlet on reducing weight and gaining is the only one for which you must enclose 4 cents in stamps extra. Address your letters to me in care of this paper. Make them as brief as possible, not over 200 words, and type or write them legibly with ink. Please sign your name as evidence of good faith—we will not use it in any way. Remember it is impossible for me to diagnose for you or to answer you personally. I appreciate very much the beautiful letters you send me and regret it is impossible to give you individual advice. The questions you ask will be answered in the column as soon as possible, if they are of general interest. Don't forget to enclose the s. a. s. e. if you ask for an article.

Mrs. —: You did not follow my directions for reducing if you cut out bread, butter, meat and potatoes entirely, for I do not advise that regime. If you notice my menus, you will see that a slice of bread or a potato twice a day and a small amount of butter are allowed. Wholewheat bread is preferable to white on account of its vitamins and mineral salts. But, unless you have some starchy food in your diet, you will not have a balanced menu; and unless you have a balanced menu, you are going to suffer sooner or later.

You should not take physics for constipation. They simply aggravate the condition. If brain does not seem to relieve you, take the non-medicated agar which you can get in the drug stores.

Are you taking some active exercises every day? Recent investigations have proved that active exercise helps the blood-forming organs to make new blood. The article on constipation has been sent you.

Anxious: You should have an examination by a competent physician. It is not normal to have the severe pain that you have, or the other symptoms.

Mrs. C.: Have you had your daughter examined to see if she has adenoids or enlarged tonsils or other abnormality causing the catarrhal discharge? How about her diet? Is she getting sufficient of the growth foods and the vitamins and not excessive amounts of starches and sugars? Your specialist may advise an irrigation of the nose with warm salt solution, a teaspoonful to a pint of water, or salt solution with a teaspoonful of baking soda added to it, or some other antiseptic lotion.

Mrs. B.: We have an article on hyperacidity. Send a self-addressed, stamped envelope for it. Mrs. E.: If your daughter has a simple goiter, she undoubtedly would be benefited by taking the tablets I spoke of when I talked on simple goiter. These would have to be prescribed by your physician. They are proving a God-send to the girls in the goiter re-

THE BATHING GIRL

The strong sun that comes at the end of June and lasts all through July and August need have no terrors for the bathing girl if she takes a few precautions. And the first thing to consider is the bathing suit.

New the less one has on, in the way of frills and flounces, the easier and pleasanter it is to swim or bathe. But if you burn easily and want to keep your skin moderately white, you simply must not go in for ballroom decollete on the beach. Personally, I'm in favor of one-piece wool bathing suits for everyone pretty enough to wear one, keeping the more prudish suits for those not blessed with a pretty figure. But the censors of bathing beach morals don't look at it that way. I know. This, however, is a digression.

If you want to protect your skin from the sun, have your suit cut with a V opening and a wee collar that covers the back of the neck, and with sleeves half way to the elbow. It's easy to protect the face and throat and lower arms, but not the back of the shoulders.

Before going on the beach rub the skin full of heavy cold cream, then cover thickly with powder so it won't get shiny in the sun. The sea water will wash off the powder, but that doesn't matter. It won't wash off much of the cream.

In spite of this treatment you may burn. If so, rub the skin with milk or buttermilk at night and use cucumber lotion or peroxide cold cream after you have washed off the heavy cream put on with your bathing suit. Such precautions are easy to take, and pay.

Miss J. W. — A list of foods to be eaten while reducing could not be printed at this time. If you will send a stamped, addressed envelope, however, I will be glad to mail you complete information.

Jeanette F. — When you purchase a vibrator you will get the different attachments. The one with the teeth is for the scalp, and the best one for the complexion is the small, hard, round nozzle. In using a vibrator for scalp, a deep treatment is very beneficial, but when giving a skin treatment only, the lightest touch is best. The reason for this is the danger to some people of breaking the tiny veins directly under the skin. Such an accident would not happen except in an extreme case, but when using a hand vibrator it is well to know about this, as many people unconsciously rest the weight of the machine on the parts they are treating. In the professional treatment for the face there are the lightest of touches, just enough to bring the blood to the surface and increase circulation, but anyone may do this same thing with a hand machine.

All inquiries addressed to Miss Forbes in care of the "Beauty Chats" department will be answered in the column. If a question requires considerable time, however, to answer, the questioner will be notified by mail. If a question is desired, a stamped and self-addressed envelope must be enclosed with the question.—The Editor.

A FOUR WEEK COURSE

Guess God thought it would be a good thing for me to know more about hospitals if I intended to write about them.

Anyhow He has just given me a four weeks' intensive course on the subject, during which I modified some of the ideas I expressed in this column a few weeks ago.

And became more fixed than ever in others.

Some weeks ago I wrote an article in which I found fault with the way so many hospitals are all bound up in red tape. In return, quite a few of my readers rose up and found fault with me. While others rose up and supported me. Since then I have had my little gions in the United States and Switzerland.

If your physician does not know of them, have him write me on his office stationery and I will give him the name of the firm that manufactures them.

Your daughter needs foods that have an appreciable amount of iodine in them. Sea fish, lettuce, beets, turnips, green peas, radishes and tomatoes are the foods that contain a goodly amount of iodine.

Mrs. L.: If you will send me a self-addressed, stamped envelope I will give you a list of books on general dietetics containing the data you wish. The book on reducing you ask about you can obtain at any book store. It will do the work. (I know—I wrote it!)

Mrs. W.: Take your little girl to a children's specialist, please.

Mrs. H.: You say your baby is fourteen months old and is still nursing. He is constipated, and seems to be growing worse, and he has only six teeth. You are feeding him bread, creamed gravy and creamed potatoes.

Your baby is not getting enough variety of foods.

Your milk is very poor by this time and has no iron, and the store of iron that the baby was born with has been exhausted. You should have weaned him by nine or ten months. At fourteen months a baby should have been having quite a variety of foods. I can just give you general directions. Pureed tender vegetables, especially spinach; fruit juices, apple and other saucers, strong beef broths, a little cabbage, scraped beef, zwieback and twice-baked bread, and butter. Feed every four hours. Nothing but meats.

HEART AND HOME PROBLEMS

BY MRS. ELIZABETH I. THOMPSON

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I have been going with a girl who seemed to think the world and all of me, and I certainly did of her. I took her to shows and everywhere she wanted to go and she always said she had a good time with me.

Now there is another young man who has started going with her lately and for some reason she no longer wants to have anything to do with me. When I telephone her and invite her to go somewhere she gives me some excuse. I don't know why this is because she certainly liked me just a few weeks ago.

Would you advise me to ask her what is wrong? Or should I stop calling her and let her go with the other fellow since he seems to be her choice?

The best thing for you to do is to find another girl. I would not advise you to ask what is wrong, because it is evident that the girl's fancy has turned from you to some one else. Since she has turned down several times, let it go at that. There will be other girls who will enjoy your attentions.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: My one great wish is to secure employment where I may have my child with me and have at least some semblance of a home. I have an excellent education and have been teaching in high school, but I so much want employment where I can have my small child of school age with me and have a home for both of us. Are there any such positions? If so, will you please give me some ideas? I have thought of sorority houses, but doubtless older women are desired those positions and I am only thirty-four years of age.

Any suggestions will be gratefully received. I feel I simply cannot have a child grow up and never know a home.

MRS. M. B.

A guest towel would be a very acceptable gift.

Write a letter to the colleges that interest you and send it in care of the dean. State your case and ask if there is any opening for you in sorority houses or dormitories.

I would suggest that you advertise for a position in the newspapers of large cities. Very often there are men left with one child or more and they are in great need of just such a woman as you are to take charge of the home as housekeeper and nurse for the child. In this way you could keep your child with you. She would have real home life, if you secured a good position, and would probably be happier than in a house full of college girls.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: If a couple goes to a neighboring town and is married, how can they prevent it from being put in the newspaper in their home town? The couple wishes to keep it a secret for a while.

It is very difficult to keep the marriage license report out of the newspaper. Talk to the marriage license clerk and see if he can give you any suggestions.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: When dining with a woman friend recently I noticed that she took up some small chicken bones in her fingers and ate the meat from them, quite as a matter of course. Was this correct?

No, it is never permissible to lift bones of any kind in the fingers and eat the meat from them. A la carte dweller, not even in the privacy of one's home.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I have been invited to a miscellaneous shower for a girl friend of mine. Would it be all right for me to give her a guest towel?

POLLY.

A guest towel would be a very acceptable gift.

WHO'S WHO IN THE DAY'S NEWS

ROBERT BEECHER HOWELL

Nebraska has selected an aggressive, businesslike Republican to succeed Senator Gilbert M. Hitchcock, who led the League of Nations contest in the senate for the Wilson administration.

He is Robert Beecher Howell, described as a "progressive" but not quite so rampant as a Senator George W. Norris, his Republican colleague.

Howell has been active in Nebraska politics for a number of years. He likes the political arena and will enliven things in the senate.

Howell was born in Adrian, Mich., being a son of Andrew Howell, a jurist and author, and fect care, but that isn't the question. The question is, does he get better care than he would at home?

That I wish there were no such thing as illness, but that as long as there is I am mighty glad there are such places as hospitals.

I took that course—one cannot go through any deep human experience without learning something—but that I hope I shouldn't ever be asked to take a post-graduate course.

Forest Fire Bugs to Get Bill for Damage

LOS ANGELES, June 28.—In the future when a person is caught starting a forest fire he will be presented with a bill for the same.

Such was the announcement of the drastic measure to be taken by Stuart Flintham, county fire warden, in an effort to stamp out starting of forest fires.

After a person has been found guilty of starting a forest fire, Forester Flintham plans to present him a bill for the damage done before sentence is pronounced. If the bill is paid the court may be asked to extend clemency.

United States has nearly 4,000,000 laborers.

California Hog Crop Equals Gold Output

BERKELEY, June 28.—The lowly porker is at last coming into its own. The value of California hogs is estimated at nearly ten millions of dollars, or only a trifle less than the total gold output of the state.

During the past decade, ending in 1920, the number of hogs in the state increased 174 per cent. So important has become the industry that a correspondence course in swine husbandry is now available for hog raisers.

Four of every 25,000 people will be killed by automobiles in a year, one of the four being under nine years of age, says an insurance expert.

PLAN FOR MOVING P. O. CAUSES STIR

Site of M'Groarty Fame
Would Be Changed
by Business Men

Tujunga is in a fair way to becoming divided and subdivided in a way that may cause some envy among realty men who make their specialty. The innocent cause of the whole thing is the harmless old postoffice at El Centro and Sunset boulevard. Somebody wants it moved to what those most interested in that section term the "business center," along Michigan avenue, and other somebody are very emphatic in their desire that the postoffice remain where it always has been since it "graduated" from George Buck's wheelbarrow.

There was a time, many years ago, when it could be found almost any place between La Crescenta and Tujunga, when Mr. Buck had the job wished on him by a labor-saving populace, and he served as postoffice, carrier, and "goat" when anything went wrong, bringing the mail from the nearest box at the western end of the route. But "Them days are gone forever," and now, after the building at the corner across from Legion hall has served as postoffice for years and become famous through the writings of John S. McGroarty, some one is agitating for a removal to the state highway, Michigan avenue for short, on the claim that it would be more centrally located. This is denied by those who are served by the postoffice, living north and east of the present location.

Two Sides to Serve

The move to the highway would greatly benefit the business men of that section, but it would only add distance between northern and eastern Tujunga and at the same time not shortening the distance from the western section. In the face of the problem, it would appear that the only ones to benefit by the proposed change, for which purpose a petition is reported in circulation, would be the property owners of the highway section.

There were rumors afloat some time ago, before the appointment of Mrs. Nona Hallett as postmistress, that certain interests, with influence in the postal family at Washington, would seek the removal of the office in the event she received the appointment. Subsequent events lead back to this rumor, which may prove to be a "hoaxer" as well.

Postoffice Church Supper
The July Men's Brotherhood supper will be omitted, and the next will be in August.

Communion will be celebrated at the Community church next Sunday, and new members will be tendered a reception.

Saturday, July 14, has been selected as a day for the Sunday school picnic, to be given at Brookside park, Pasadena.

Approximately half of the lots in the community tract are reported sold. Miss Clara Cantner, who is attached to one of the banks of Philadelphia, has been spending several days of her tour of the Pacific coast with her friend, Miss Stella Kean of San Ysidro street. Judge Curtis Wilbur, upon whom the University of Southern California recently conferred the degree of LL. D. attended the services at Community church last Sunday.

Minor Has Right to Marriage Annulment

LOS ANGELES, June 28.—The right of a minor to an annulment of marriage, contracted under age and without the necessary consent of parents at the time of marriage, even though the parents later consented, has been upheld in an opinion Justice Gavin W. Craig of the district court of appeals.

EAGLE ROCK

FAVOR CHANGING NAME OF AVENUE

L. A. Officials Altering All
House Numbers Along
Eagle Rock Streets

The Eagle Rock Chamber of Commerce, at its meeting of Tuesday night, June 26, went on record as in favor of the proposed change of Glassell avenue to Eagle Rock boulevard, but expressed itself as decidedly against any extensions of Hill avenue that would be less than the present width of forty feet. The meeting was held in the auditorium of the city hall, with President O. J. Root in the chair.

Notice has been sent to "owners, lessees, tenants and other occupants of Eagle Rock premises" that the change will be made hereafter their street number will be—and here the new number is given, in many cases way up in the thousands.

Mr. Griffin states that power to change said numbers is vested in him by virtue of Ordinance No. 499, new series, passed by the Los Angeles City Council at their meeting of December 20, 1889. Citizens of Eagle Rock feel that this was doubtless before many of their streets were named at all. They also have an idea that the change will be welcomed by the printers and sign painters.

"The changes are being made to straighten out existing conflicts in house numbers now in use," explains Mr. Griffin.

It is understood that presently the prefixes north, south, east and west will be dropped from names of streets in this section.

Brush Fire Yesterday

A corral of mules utilized by the contractors putting in the improvements on upper Hill avenue, between Rosemont and Peyton avenues, might well have been cremated yesterday afternoon shortly after midday, but for the quick, concerted action of the fire and police departments.

The blaze is said to have started from an exhaust of an automobile coming in contact with the exceedingly dry brush at the roadside. It was all over in ten minutes—but it might not have been.

This serves as another warning to everyone in the community to use exceeding caution in the matter of fire prevention, states Lt. E. W. Wells, of Engine No. 42, in commenting on the blaze.

Club Notes

Mrs. A. R. Rose, of 211 North Acacia avenue, reports that $16.50 was cleared for the benevolent fund of the American Legion Auxiliary, of which she is president, at the fund-raising sale held last Saturday, June 23, in the Eagle Rock office of the Glendale Evening News, 113 East Colorado boulevard.

This sum, Mrs. Rose states, will go toward paying off the balance recently purchased for the family of a local disabled world war veteran.

It is announced by Mrs. Rose that the next meeting of the auxiliary will be September 1, when plans for the big autumn vaudeville show will be discussed.

A dahlia luncheon was held at the Women's Twentieth Century clubhouse, this noon, Thursday, June 28. The purpose of the luncheon was to raise funds for having the vacant lot beside the clubhouse plowed and planted to dahlias. Judging from the large number present, success of the enterprise is assured.

J. J. Broomall, of the dahlia farm, has donated twenty-five bulbs to the committee, and has also offered a $10 prize for the best bloom produced from these bulbs and exhibited at the Dahlia Show this October.

A joint meeting of the American Legion and Auxiliary was held last Thursday night in the basement of the Eagle Rock Public Library. It was the final meeting of the year and was celebrated with a "watermelon feed."

Social and Personal

Quite a celebrity has moved to Eagle Rock, no less a personage than Earl C. Houk, "the blind baritone" of Los Angeles.

Mr. Houk has the reputation of being a great baseball fan, despite his blindness, and attends many games, understanding perfectly just what is happening on the diamond at all times.

He will make his home on Grand View avenue, north of the boulevard.

Miss Eileen McClintic, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. A. McClintic, of 210 North Satsuma avenue, is visiting with Mrs. McClintic's brother, J. H. Macklin, of Huntington Beach.

H. I. DeVol, local realtor, of 204 East Colorado boulevard, cites as an indication of house shortage that he spent an entire morning trying to find a vacant high-class six-room modern house with three bedrooms for a client, from the east, whose furniture is being held in a box-car with demurrage charges, and who is extremely anxious to locate in Eagle Rock.

Peter H. Ducker and family, of 145 North College View avenue, are now living in their new home at La Canada, where they have located on a fine three-acre tract north of Michigan avenue.

Mr. Ducker was for thirteen years a prominent citizen of this section, serving as member and at one time president of the school board and occupying other honorable offices, while Mrs. Ducker was active in church and club work.

Unscrupulous Business
Service For Patriots
Possibilities Of Scopalamine
Doctors Live To Learn

By Gil A. Cowan

A GAIN the hue and cry of unscrupulous contractors "flying by night" and beating bills. The attention of the Realty Board was brought to this business yesterday. Almost weekly the Mechanical Association hears the same old story.

Glendale, or any other booming community, is subject to irresponsible jobbers who have come into town with the apparent intent of "making a cleaning" while the cleaning is good.

It behooves each and every one of us here to give dollar for dollar in value; to so serve that none can call us "crooked"; and to value our word more than the purse. Principle and character are the only foundations for a lasting success.

Under the caption, "A Service For Patriots," the Hollywood Daily Citizen says:

"When one reads every now and then of the sacrifice of a life by a Los Angeles policeman in the performance of his duties, one is forced to keenly regret that the suspicion of the public must at any time attach to any members of the police department."

"The policeman's calling is more than one of a mere job—a chance to earn a livelihood for a family."

"It is a calling of patriotic service, a calling where, in the fulfillment of the obligations of the office, the extreme sacrifice is too frequently exacted."

"Such a service should never be besmirched by any of those entering it with any conduct out of keeping with the nobleness of the calling."

"And it would seem that the patriotism of the service would so impress the majority of those engaged therein to such an extent that they would insist that none among them would stain it with anything unworthy."

"The life of a policeman and, with high principle and sincere devotion to duty has engaged in the protection of our homes, our lives, our comfort and our rights, is a noble one."

"It should be so looked upon by the public and by the men engaged therein that it should be a mark of the best citizenship."

"If it were thus appraised, if we commonly looked upon the police uniform as the mark of a patriot of high order, wouldn't there be more of an incentive among the men engaged in that service to stamp out of anything that might bring about public disapproval or public challenge?"

"The man in the uniform who maintains high principles has much to be proud of regardless of what others in the uniform might do."

"But he has more to be proud of when the uniform is generally considered as a mark of the best citizenship."

The possibilities of scopalamine, the drug which induces "wildcat sleep," as a means to determine the guilt or innocence of prisoners before courts of justice, are interesting and unusual. In the first place, it may be that a man is guilty of some crime, but not the one charged. Would his natural antagonism toward scopalamine be sufficient on which a conviction may be obtained?

Personally, we have no objection to scopalamine or any other device used to seek the truth, yet we have the greatest sympathy for those who are going to be victimized. Would that the drug lose its potency rather than harrow the minds of all who are arrested. It is like a leper within prison walls.

"The least you can wear in the way of a bathing suit, the better," say the doctors in session at San Francisco. Perhaps the King Tut style—of just nothing at all—will be the best after all, but it is taking us centuries to find it out.

Swimming and diving are given as causes of many diseases of the eyes, ears and throat. Maybe so, maybe not. It depends on the person, place and sanitary conditions. We know of nothing healthier than swimming, and the highest divers have wonderfully keen senses, if you please.

It seems that every time the doctors open their mouths in advice we wish we were a doctor to tell 'em how wrong they are. For no two of them agree out of the doctor's sight, so far as the writer has noticed.

That's what makes the medical profession interesting and enlightening. They live to learn.

Oaks Alleges Spite In Probe of Police

LOS ANGELES, July 28.—Striking back at his accusers, Chief of Police Oaks has asked the district attorney to have the county grand jury sift charges of inefficiency hurled against his department by certain Protestant ministers, and at the same time declared he antagonized Rev. Gustav A. Briegleb, one of his accusers, by refusing to square a speeder's tag for an ex-convict who, he said, is a friend of Briegleb.

BURBANK

PLANNERS URGE WIDER STREETS

Adequate Setback Lines Are Suggested to Council
By Commission

Wider and more uniform streets throughout Burbank, with adequate setback lines, is the recommendation of the City Planning Commission, in a report to the City Trustees containing several pages of manuscript, together with two sheets of maps.

The commission has gone into this matter thoroughly, and the trustees will do likewise, having the report under consideration and advisement.

Included in the recommendation is the argument that the streets in most cases be widened to eighty feet. Fourth street is proposed to be widened to seventy feet.

"In view of the fact that it is impossible to obtain deeds to all properties fronting on streets indicated at this time," the recommendation reads, "we further recommend that on all streets indicated as eighty-foot streets a setback line from the center of said street be established to the amount of forty feet."

How It Will Work
"On all streets indicated as seventy-foot streets a setback line from the center of the street be established to the amount of thirty-five feet."

"On all streets indicated as sixty-foot streets a setback line from the center of the street be established to the amount of thirty feet."

"This will automatically establish the point at which permanent structures may be placed, and as the properties are subdivided the required width of streets may be demanded without causing any financial loss to people who have previously erected buildings."

Plea For Unity

Secretary Colburn of the Burbank Chamber of Commerce delivered a rousing speech before last week's session of the Burbank Rotary club, pleading with the people of the city to "draw a veil over our past differences and unitedly turn our faces to the future, that we may take advantage, as a community, of the wonderful opportunities which are knocking at our door."

This plea followed an outline by Secretary Colburn of the obstacles which the chamber has been trying to overcome in its effort to unite the community for prosperity.

One of these obstacles, the assembly was told, is the tendency of certain citizens to nurse grudges that should long since have vanished, many of these grudges being older than the present official regime of the chamber and not a proper heritage.

The greatest obstacle standing in the way of united effort through the chamber of commerce, Secretary Colburn told them, was the "ultra indifference" of the average citizen to anything excepting his own private interests.

"What we need," he said, "is for more of these citizens to forget these personal interests long enough to get a view of the greater good of the community."

"A chamber of commerce is a clearing house for community matters. It can comprise one man or a thousand men," said Mr. Colburn.

He intimated, however, that residents are far greater where many citizens share the load, referring to the lack of harmony among the citizens of Burbank as "the greatest obstacle which has confronted the present officials of the chamber," and stating that this lack was due largely "to little personal things that have happened years ago and should have been forgotten years ago."

Social and Personal
There will be a dinner, followed by a musical entertainment and dance, at the Goodfellows' club, the night of July 10, one of the purposes being to convince the public that the club operates one of the finest dining rooms in the city.

Children's day was celebrated Sunday, June 24, at the Evangelical church, with a program of songs, recitations and other juvenile exercises. Rev. Paul J. Kluth, the pastor, delivered the address at both morning and evening services.

Burbank's "knights of the roaring wheel," her motorcycle officers, look like a detachment of staff officers from G. H. Q., in their new uniforms. Speakers when arrested by these officials have no difficulty in realizing that they are in the hands of a high and solemn tribunal, it is understood.

Stanley Runyon of Troop No. 1, Burbank Boy Scouts, was selected by Leonard F. Collins, scout commissioner, an official Boy Scout of this city to be one of the pioneer squad to help make ready the camp near Lake Arrowhead, and is there now.

County Will Require 800 More Teachers

LOS ANGELES, June 28.—To care for the big increase in school children, more than 800 teachers will be required in the 145 districts in Los Angeles county, according to an estimate made by Mark Keppel, county superintendent of schools.

Will Serve Life Term For Sweetheart's Death

LOS ANGELES, June 28.—Joseph Becker's shattered love romance, which took a grim twist when he burned his life's savings of $7,200 and then killed Jane Kelsoe, his sweetheart, reached its culminating chapter yesterday when Judge Avery sentenced him to life imprisonment. Becker told a story of having his love rejected while on an outing with Miss Kelsoe in Elysian park. In desperation he destroyed his money and shot his sweetheart.
